Archdiocese land annexation fails

Residents vocal in opposition, Antioch trustees' vote split

By TIM FROELIG
Staff Reporter

A standing-room-only crowd applauded the Village of Antioch's decision refusing to annex 40 acres owned by the Chicago Archdiocese, and 257 acres of land owned by Alfred and Dale Pederson.

Residents voiced their concerns to village officials at an April 17 public hearing, which was followed by the regular board meeting in which the proposed annexation was put to a vote.

Attorney Mike Ganter was represented the Chicago Archdiocese and the Pedersons.

"We have no intention whatsoever to develop these properties," said Ganter.

Residents feared if the land were annexed it would create a chain reaction, allowing the village to annex other property contiguous to both the Pederson and archdiocese land—becoming a catalyst for future development. The archdiocese property is about one-half mile north of Rte. 173 to the east of Rte. 45, while the Pederson property is located east of the archdiocese land. Marvin Raymond, president of the Newport Environmental Action Team, wondered why the property owners had a need to annex.

"The Roman-Catholic Church has no need for annexation," said Raymond.

Ganter said that the Pedersons' sole reason for wanting to annex to the village was to "be a part of the community." This statement prompted harsh response from those wondering why property owners would want to annex into Antioch with no intention of building on the land in the foreseeable future.

"If you (the village) buy that, you're more naive than I thought you were," said one resident.

Annexation would have provided the archdiocese and the Pedersons'

E-1 zoning, which allows one residential unit per acre. Many neighboring landowners have five acres or more and explained that they enjoyed their rural lifestyle. The village has a comprehensive plan in place that has not been updated since 1991. The plan shows the land east of Rte. 45 as residential homes on three to five acres. By current law, annexation must be made as the most restrictive residential zone, which is E-1, or one residential unit per acre. E-1 zoning could potentially cause more dense growth in the area—something which Lake County Board member Judy Martini strongly opposes.

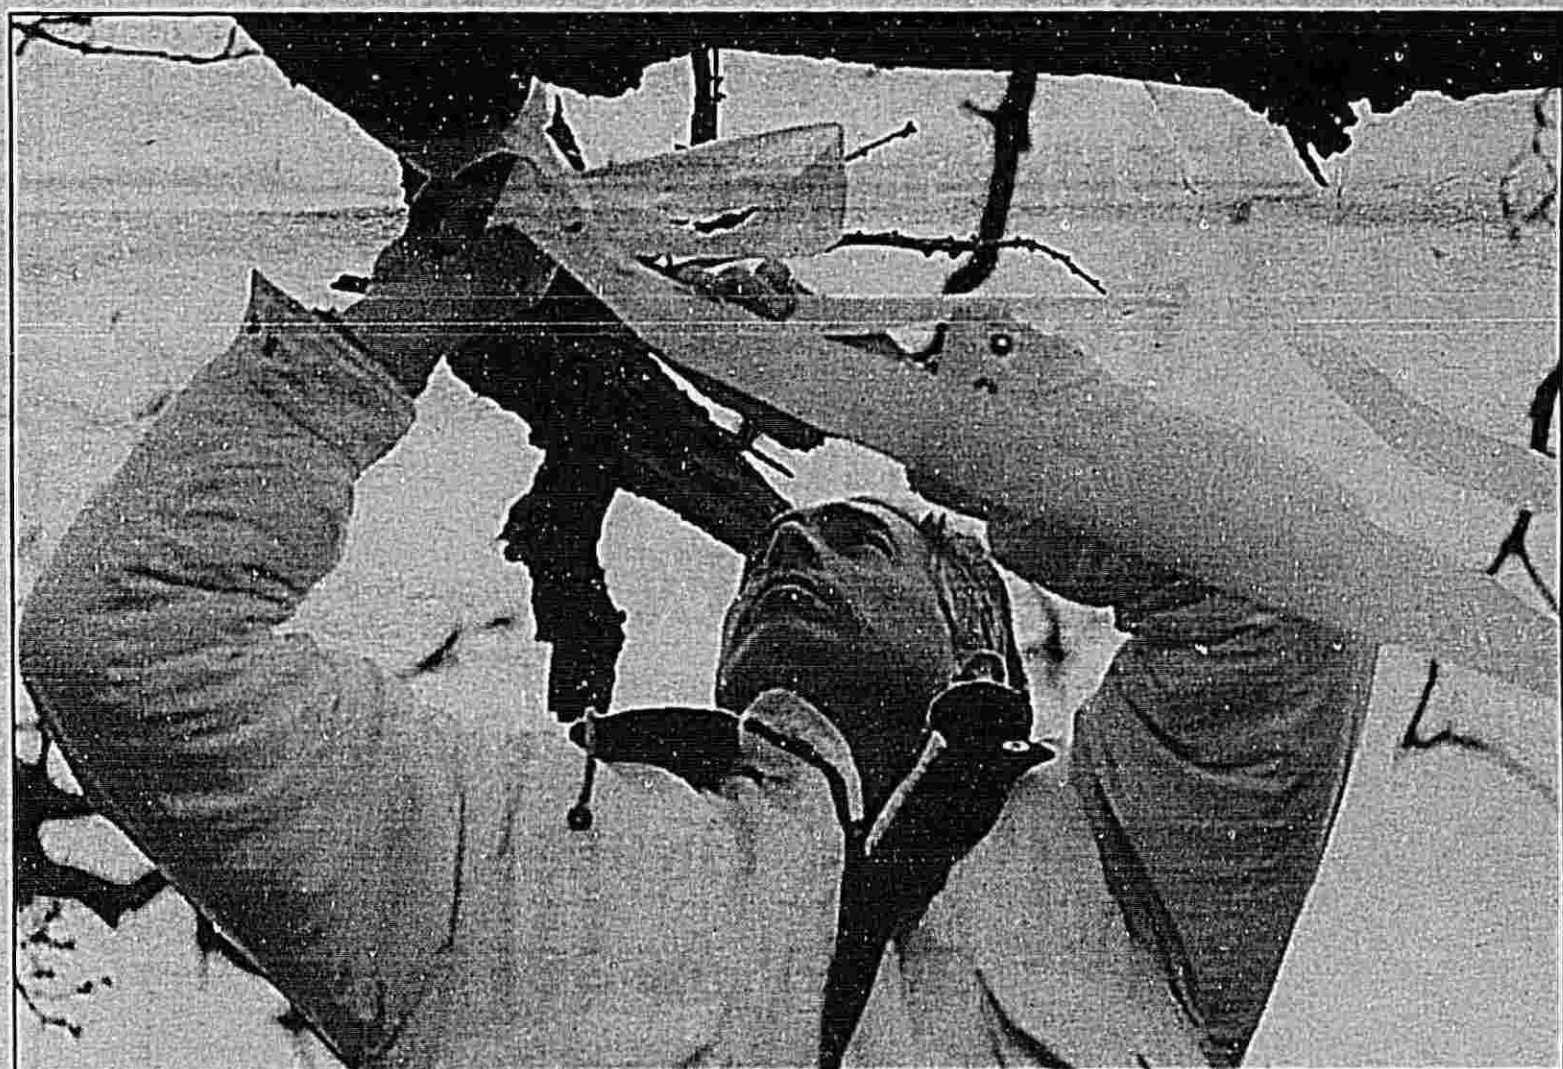

"You (the village) have the authority to update your comprehensive plan," said Martini. "What good is a plan if you enforce it on a case-by-case basis?"

"You've got to handle stuff on a case-by-case basis," responded village attorney Ken Clark.

Officials began discussing the option of a pre-annexation agreement, which failed. Trustee Barbara Porch motioned to table the annexations until the next meeting, asking for a three- to five-acre minimum lot size to be included in a pre-annexation agreement. The resolution ended in a deadlock. Trustees Lawrence Hanson, Ronald Cunningham and Porch voted for it while Dorothy Larson, Wayne Foresta and Marvin Oldenburger voted against it. Mayor Marilyn Shineflug refused to

Community stands together to save old oak tree from being removed

By TIM FROELIG

Residents from the Woods of Antioch subdivision have banded together in hopes of saving an oak tree they estimate is about 250 years old. "It's a beautiful oak tree," said resident Sue Pingel.

On the evening of April 17, more than 60 residents gathered near the tree and placed yellow ribbons around hoping to persuade developers to save the tree from removal. Pingel passed out 92 flyers informing the community of the gathering. Many residents expressed surprise at the large turnout.

"I love this neighborhood," said

Debbie Prather. "Everyone's very involved and comes together."

The tree is located between two empty lots on Ridgewood St. that are for sale by KLM builders. Pingel stated that she has been in contact with KLM regarding the matter and will continue to be. She and others

Antioch men charged with Lindenhurst burglaries

By BRENDA BEITSCHER
Staff Reporter

Waukegan police apprehended two suspects wanted by Lindenhurst police for burglaries in their jurisdiction.

While questioning the suspects, both made statements regarding the March 17 burglaries of Rosati's pizzeria and the Game Escape store located at 616 N. Bridgeport Terr. in Lindenhurst.

Lance A. Mehaffey, 18, of 992 Victoria St., Antioch and Joseph Engmark, 20, of 316 Sterbenz Ave. in Antioch both stated that they drove to Rosati's and parked in front of the store. Engmark took a large rock and threw it through the front door. They entered the store, and looked around. Engmark broke into the cash register with a crowbar taken from his car. Engmark stated that the register was empty, but that he took a foam cup with $17 in dimes from the counter.

Mehaffey removed two cases of soda pop. They found nothing more to take. They spent about five minutes in the store, then sat in the car for five minutes trying to decide what to do next. Mehaffey said Engmark convinced him that his nervousness was a "rush" from the break-in. Engmark convinced Mehaffey to break into another store.

Proposed Timberlake Park annex tabled by village board

By TIM FROELIG
Staff Reporter

Property owner Ken Glick addressed the Antioch Village Board April 17 and pleaded his case to have 76 acres of land he owns annexed to the village. The board tabled the motion to allow time for a pre-annexation agreement to be drafted.

The property, commonly known as Timberlake Park, is west of Rte. 45 and a quarter-mile south of Rte. 173. Glick claimed that if annexed, a total of 193 houses could be built on the land.

The hearing brought a standing-room-only crowd. A number of residents objected to Glick's proposal. Many feared potential development of the site at a large density, which is currently zoned E-1. Such zoning allows one-residential unit per acre.

"This property can't be developed at these densities," said Al Westerman, Lake County Board District 7 Representative.

Mayor Marilyn Shineflug tried to answer some residents' concerns. "You're assuming we don't have impact fees, but we do," said Shineflug. "One of the major reasons (why we annex) is the development is going to be there anyway. You'll still have the same number of schools and still have the same number of cars on the road."

Glick's property does not currently use community water, but rather wells located on the parcel. Glick tried to calm residents fears that the wells may eventually go dry.

"We have three wells on our

LETTER TO EDITOR

Where have all the tax dollars gone

Have the people of Antioch been wondering what is all the over-development doing for the village? It does indeed increase a few important commodities, such as taxes and crime. Statistics have shown that development does not pay for itself.

It's curious why the Village of Antioch would spend taxpayers' dollars on legal fees to provide a defense for an upcoming Illinois Environmental Protection Agency hearing that involves property that is not in the village limits. Shouldn't village tax dollars stay in the village and support the needed improvements within their boundaries? Numerous newspaper articles have stated that the village needed bonds to upgrade their current water system. If the Village of Antioch is willing to extend water and sewer to service new development beyond their current FPA, what about helping the existing residences that, due to failed septic systems, can't do their laundry at home?

Currently our schools and roads are over crowded. Do we need more development? It seems that the only development we need is to develop a new mayor and village board that listens to the people of the Village of Antioch. Even the unincorporated areas get hit by the fallout from actions of the village, but yet they have no voting rights.

It's true that if a person purchases a parcel of property, that they have certain legal rights. However, many uses of land can be detrimental to the existing homeowners. When developers come in and use rape and scrap methods, it is done in total disregard to the environment and the community. After all, they are building to make the almighty dollar. At whose expense?

What Every Lake County Resident Ought To Know Before Buying A New Or Used Vehicle

Overstocked dealer faced with loss of spring allocations, forced to discount inventory up to $6,000 off factory sticker price.

Antioch, IL Dan Svoboda, Sales Manager of Country Pontiac-Buick, was quoted this week as saying, "If I have to, I will undersell every dealer east of the Mississippi. I don't care where or who they are, I won't be undersold!"

Svoboda intends to discount everything from $1000 - $6000 off the factory sticker. When asked for specific details he said, "Here is a new Buick Park Avenue, Stock number 9377. This car is touted as being one of the best on the road today. Including the $3000 factory rebate, I will discount this vehicle $6,000 off the factory sticker price." When asked for another example, Svoboda replied, "I also have 2000 Grand Prix GT's and 2000 LeSabre's priced from $19,420."

What can customers expect on other models? "Unbelievable deals on everything," Svoboda replied, "Nothing will be held back. Absolutely nothing!"

Customers can expect the deal of a lifetime. Country Pontiac/Buick simply has no choice!"

Svoboda also noted, "We're confident we can help anyone who needs financing even if they have had credit trouble in the past. We went to our banks and told them we needed help selling this huge selection of vehicles.

"...we can help anyone who needs financing even if they have had credit trouble in the past."

John Nelson
Business Manager

They agreed and told us that for the four-day period they would finance these vehicles for a down payment of only $99 with approved credit."

So, for the next three days, Saturday, April 22 through Tuesday, April 25 Country Pontiac/Buick will be deeply discounting every vehicle in inventory.

In addition, we have 350 pre-driven vehicles available, priced up to thousands below Blue Book Value.

Country Pontiac/Buick is located at 845 Main St. in Antioch.

For more information about Country Pontiac/Buick's Low Price Guarantee, or this three day sale, contact Scott Smoot at 847-395-4400.

Scouts to build picnic tables

Funds raised to benefit troop 188

By TIM FROEHLIG
Staff Reporter

The Boy Scouts of America Troop 188 will be constructing picnic tables to raise money for its organization on May 6.

According to scout master Randy Bernhardt, the group has been holding this event for five years now.

"It's a one-day project, and it's a very long day," he said.

All of the proceeds will go to Troop 188 and help pay to send the boys to summer camp, pay for equipment or to cover the cost of trips. Each boy is assigned to a station. Fathers will assist the scouts with sanding, sawing or other aspects of construction where help is needed.

"The boys operate each one of the stations," said Bernhardt.

There are 23 boys in Troop 188, and all are asked to participate. Last year the scouts sold 14 tables. This year, according to Bernhardt, the boys have already pre-sold nine.

The picnic tables are six-foot A-frame tables with stainless steel bolt construction. No staples or nails are used. The scouts will construct two types of tables—cedar and pressure treated ones.

"People have been staining them and some people like the natural look," said Bernhardt.

Delivery is free for those purchasing a table, provided they are in the Lake County area. The cost of a hand-crafted picnic table is $150 for a pressure-treated one, and $210 for a cedar table.

For more information, or to purchase a table, contact Randy Bernhardt at 838-0178.

Play brings attention to dating violence

Antioch Community High School Students, administration and faculty will touch upon the issue of dating violence the week of April 24. The ACHS student assistance program and A Safe Place will present "The Yellow Dress," a dramatic one-woman play set to music.

At 7 p.m. on Tuesday, April 25, there will be a special performance of the play for the parents of ACHS students and members of the community. This production will be held at PM&L Theatre in Antioch. Seating is limited so those planning to attend should arrive early. No one may enter the play after it has begun.

Following the presentation, a panel of professionals from the Lake County area will discuss what parents can do to assist their children in making proper decisions in dating relationships.

cast a tie-breaking vote, forcing an annexation vote to be made at the meeting that evening.

Upon the motion to table failing, Hanson seemed visibly unhappy, noting that the vote was rushed.

"What's going on east of town is just devastating to me," Hanson told the board. "I just feel that we're in a position that we're saying things we don't like to hear."

At the final annexation vote for the archdiocese parcel, the trustees voted the same way as they had in the motion to table—in a 3-3 split. Mayor Shineflug once again failed to cast a vote as five out of seven were needed for annexation to occur. The vote made the Pedersons' annexation request obsolete because it lacked the necessary parcel of land making it contiguous to Antioch.

"They (Pedersons) can re-petition if they want but not without a parcel contiguous to the village," explained Clark.

end of the plaza, parking between the building and a dumpster. This time Mehaffey threw a rock through the door of Game Escape. Inside, the men found three locked doors, which they kicked in. Unable to locate any cash, the two left the store and went to Mehaffey's house.

Both Mehaffey and Engmark denied taking cash or the deposit book from the store.

As of April 12, the two men were in custody, with bonds totaling $35,000 for Mehaffey and $45,000 for Engmark. Engmark is scheduled for his preliminary hearing on May 1 at 1:30 p.m. in Waukegan. Mehaffey's hearing will be on May 4 at 10:30 a.m.

property serving the campground at present time," said Glick, calling them "adequate."

A few area residents claimed they had spent a great deal of money to continue digging their own wells deeper after they had gone dry.

"I was 257 feet (deep) now I'm 1000," said one resident.

Some feared with a potential 193 houses built on the land, the current three-well system may not be adequate. Also on hand for the meeting was Lake County Forest Preserve District President Carol Calabrese. She stated she would like to work with the village to get an easement allowing for a trail to be built through the Glick property.

"I would urge you to please take your time with this annexation," said Calabrese. "If we miss this opportunity we are gonna have a difficult time getting an easement."

Calabrese is trying to link all forest preserve trails throughout the county to make one complete trail. She then urged officials to use caution, at times disagreeing with Trustee Wayne Foresta.

emphasized how supportive the builder has been throughout the process.

"We don't want to leave KLM with a bad impression," commented resident Patti Brooke.

Several residents have discussed a number of possibilities including purchasing the land to save the tree.

"We're trying to save a tree and maybe put a park in," said Tom Pingel, who added that residents are in good standing with KLM. "We wouldn't want to go against him (the builder) because it's his land."

The Woods of Antioch is a development without a park for children to play in. According to Patti Brooke the land that was approved for park

"I urge you to get adequate impact fees," said Calabrese.

"The schools recommend the impact fees," said Foresta. "The school is their own taxing body."

Foresta added that he didn't think the timing was right for Calabrese to discuss her trail proposal since the meeting was a public hearing on annexation. "I don't think it's appropriate to bring this up at this point," he said.

"Now is the time before it's too late," responded Calabrese. Mayor Marilyn Shineflug then told Calabrese that she wanted to work together with the forest preserve.

Trustee Mary Oldenburger told the village he wanted wording in the pre-annexation agreement to assure trail development. Glick then stated he had no problem with Oldenburger's idea.

After the public hearing, officials voted to table the motion to annex until the next regular board meeting, allowing officials time to draft a pre-annexation agreement. The annexation will then likely be voted upon at the May 1 meeting.

use is inaccessible because Sequoia Creek runs in front of it. The land was, however, donated prior to KLM building upon the land.

Residents claim that during the summer months they have a gathering with a fire-pit nearly every weekend, so most residents know one another. Many were not surprised to see such a large number of people showing their support.

"It's a really unique neighborhood," said Patti Brooke.

Children and adults alike took turns tying yellow ribbons on tree branches. Many used a ladder to climb and reach the higher ones. In total 25 ribbons were tied to the massive oak.

The residents claim they plan to keep communicating with one another and will attempt to address the Antioch Village Board at its meeting May 1. Residents say they may try persuading officials to change the current tree ordinance in the village to prevent this, or other trees, from being destroyed.

Following the event, resident Mike Ray addressed the crowd and discussed the option of possibly persuading the developer to lower the price of the land. He is concerned that the lots may be sold soon.

Regardless of what happens, residents seemed to share a common goal.

"All we know is we don't want that thing to come down," said Pingel.

"This is the reason people move to Antioch," said Debbie Prather.

POLICE BEAT

Persons charged with a crime are innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

ANTIOCH

Warrant arrest

Scott A. Rowland, 38, of 296 Joanna Ct. in Antioch, was arrested for driving with a suspended license. He was also found to be wanted on a $40,000 forgery warrant by the Lake County Sheriff's Department. Rowland was released on bond for the suspended license charge, and then transported to Lake County jail for the outstanding warrant. Rowland has a court date scheduled for May 10.

Possession of marijuana

Richard W. Puter, 35, of 880 Tiffany Farms Rd. in Antioch, was arrested for driving on a revoked driver's license. Upon searching his vehicle, officers allegedly found marijuana seeds in his ashtray, and several empty baggies in the center console. He was then charged with unlawful possession of cannabis. Puter was released on $100 cash bond pending a May 10 court date.

Suspended driver's license

Jack Frost, 49, of 42212 Fifth Ave. in Antioch, was arrested on April 14 at 12:42 p.m. on Rte. 173 at Rte. 59 for driving with a suspended license, and for operating an uninsured motor vehicle. Frost was released on a personal recognizance bond pending a May 10 court date.

Joseph D. Martin, 27, of 1037 Main St. in Antioch, was arrested on April 13 at 12:24 a.m. on Rte. 59 at Rte. 173 for driving with a suspended license, and for operating an uninsured vehicle. He was also cited for improper headlight illumination. Martin was released on bond pending a May 10 court date.

Revoked license

Katherine A. Schultz, 37, of 286 Anita Terrace in Antioch, was arrested on April 13 at 7:18 a.m. at Depot St. and Ida St. for driving on a revoked driver's license. Schultz was released on a personal recognizance bond pending a May 24 court date.

LAKE VILLA

DUI

Martin D. Fudolov, 25, of 678 Tall Grass Ln. in Lake Villa, was arrested on April 9 at 2:19 a.m. when Lake Villa Police stopped him at Cedar Lake and Thompson Dr. Police spotted his '88 white Chevy Blazer weaving in its lane. Officers detected alcohol on Fudolov's breath. His speech was slurred, and he could not keep his balance. Field sobriety test showed impairment. At the Lake Villa Police Department, he refused testing. His car was impounded. He was charged with improper lane usage and DUI. His court appearance is on May 5 at 9 a.m. in Room C-402, Waukegan.

Hit and run

A complaint was filed with Lake Villa police on April 15 at 9:21 p.m. when a resident at the Deep Lake Hermitage apartments reported hearing a loud crash. The complainant looked out of the window and observed a dark, full-sized pick-up truck with writing on the bed area. The truck struck a '93 Nissan parked in the lot. The truck, a "king cab," was probably damaged on the left rear. The driver left the scene of the accident without identifying himself.

Invalid driver's license

Brian H. Bentley, 31, of 2812 Shoshoni Rd. in Waukegan, was stopped by Lake Villa Police on April 14 at 9 p.m. at Rte. 83 and Rte. 132 when police did not see a registration plate on his '84 Chevy Cavalier. The officer found that Bentley's driver's license had expired over six months ago. An "applied for" sticker was in the window of the car. Bentley was charged with driving an uninsured vehicle and driving with an invalid license. His court appearance is on May 10 at 3 p.m. in Grayslake Branch III.

Eric R. Meyer, 20, of 3040 W. 8th St. in Waukegan, was stopped on Rte. 132 west of Fairfield Rd. when a Lake Villa police officer ran the blue '91 Ford Escort through the computer aided dispatch system (CADS). The CADS showed a suspended license. Meyer was arrested and charged with driving on a suspended license. He was released on a $1,000 personal recognizance bond, pending court appearance on May 10 at 3 p.m. in Branch III.

Tobi J. Ingoglia, 18, of 1901 N. Lewis Ave. in Waukegan, was stopped by Lake Villa police on April 15 at 9:37 a.m. on Grass Lake Rd. near Loon Lake Rd. The '95 white Chevy S-10 pick-up he was driving was clocked on radar going 75 mph in a 45 mph zone. Ingoglia produced an Illinois I.D. and proof of insurance. Dispatch was checked, and determined that Ingoglia had an expired permit, but no license. The truck was turned over to its registered owner. Ingoglia was charged with driving 30 over the limit and having no valid license. His court date is set for May 10 at 3 p.m. in Branch III.

Arrest on warrant

Armondo Barraza, Jr., 18, of 1730 Golf Rd. in Waukegan, was stopped on Rte. 132 near Water's Edge Dr. by a Lake Villa officer who observed the car's muffler hanging from the bottom of the vehicle. The car was also making a loud noise. Barraza produced a driver's license, but no insurance proof. Dispatch determined that Barraza was wanted on a $10,000 warrant from Lake County for resisting. He was charged with driving an uninsured motor vehicle, and having a loud muffler with no tailpipe. He was transported to Lake County Jail. His court date was scheduled for May 10 at 3 p.m. in Branch III. None of the three passengers in the car had a valid driver's license. They were ordered to park the car and not drive it.

LINDENHURST

DUI

Vicki Menard, 33, of 244 E. Hazel Ave. in Fox Lake, was stopped by Lindenhurst Police on April 9 at 2:54 a.m. at Rte. 132 and Rte. 83. A police officer ran a check on her vehicle, which indicated that the owner's license was suspended. Menard did not have a license with her. She told police it was suspended, and that the vehicle had not yet been insured. Noticing that Menard had bloodshot eyes and alcohol on her breath, the officer administered field sobriety tests, which showed that Menard was impaired. A portable breath test (PBT) indicated blood alcohol of .138. A breathalyzer test at the police station showed blood alcohol content at .136. Menard was charged with DUI, DUI over .08, driving with a suspended license and driving an uninsured vehicle. She was released on an I-bond of $3,000 pending court appearance at Waukegan courtroom C-402 on May 9 at 9 a.m.

Oakland Grade School holds annual fun fair

Oakland Grade School students played host to "Millennium Bash 2000" April 15. The event is an annual fun fair sponsored by the school's PTO. Volunteers from the school and throughout the community help run the fair, which included over 20 booths featuring games of skill and chance.

Games at booths were 25 cents each, with proceeds going to the Oakland Grade School PTO. Marilyn Hughes, who is a member of the PTO explained that the event was not a fund-raising event, but merely a chance for students and the public to take a break from their daily activities and have some fun.

The Antioch Police Department were on hand to offer free child ID fingerprinting. Some of the booths included in the fair were a bean bag toss, ring toss, fishing game and a basketball shoot.

Centralized court supervision database gains senate approval

The Illinois Senate has passed legislation that requires all court supervisions to be reported to the Secretary of State. The measure, approved with broad bipartisan support, now awaits Governor Ryan's signature to be enacted.

"I want to thank the General Assembly for improving highway safety," said White. "This system will give judges and prosecutors the tools they need to make the proper judgment on traffic violations throughout the state."

House Bill 2883 gives the Secretary of State authority to establish a centralized database of court supervision for drivers in all 102 counties in Illinois and requires the circuit clerk of each county to provide the Secretary of State with information on every court supervision. The legislation also provides that all of the information reported to the Secretary of State is available only to the affected driver and for use by the courts, police officers, prosecuting authorities and the Secretary of State. The information will not be available to insurance companies.

The legislation is an outgrowth of Secretary of State Jesse White's Highway Safety 2000 advisory panel, which was formed in early 1999 to investigate concerns raised by a tragic, fatal crash between an Amtrak passenger train and a semi-trailer in Bourbonnais. The investigation of the crash revealed that the driver of the truck had an established track record of using court supervisions in multiple jurisdictions to avoid punishment for poor driving.

"Allowing the Secretary of State to track court supervisions will ensure judges are armed with all the facts of the case," said Senator Walter Dudycz (R-Chicago), lead sponsor of the legislation and member of the Highway Safety 2000 Advisory Panel. "Under this legislation, dangerous drivers will no longer be able to hide traffic violations from the courts."

White said the start-up cost for the program would be paid for by a federal grant. The $356,845 grant is provided through the Federal Highway Administration and the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration and is administered by the Illinois Department of Transportation, Division of Traffic Safety.

An added community service

It's hard to believe that in these times of rallying stock markets, low unemployment and economical boom, that there are still people in need of the life's basic essentials. It's inconceivable for some of us, as we peer into our fully stocked refrigerators and wait in long, fast-food lines, that there are citizens who struggle three times a day with the problem of having no food in the kitchen cabinets for their next meal.

We all see the clean streets of our hometown and find it difficult to comprehend that there are people living on them. Not in houses or apartment buildings, but actually on the streets and its alley ways. In our snowy white, squeaky clean, small-town atmosphere, we tend to leave that kind of nasty business to the streets of the big, overcrowded, crime-ridden cities.

Unfortunately, life isn't so rosy for all the inhabitants of our small town and with that in mind, the parishioners from St. Peter Church, in our very own Antioch, have devised a way to make it possible for those less fortunate to get some food for their table.

Working in conjunction with the Antioch Food Pantry, the Social Justice Committee from St. Peter Parish thought it would be beneficial to offer the opportunity for the less fortunate to receive food on a weekly basis from another source other than the Antioch Food Pantry. They are by no means trying to replace the already established Antioch Food Pantry, they mean to just to complement the efforts by offering the much-needed services of supplying food to community members on a different day.

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

Lynn Pringle

The thought is, that if someone is unable to make it to one site, perhaps the other site might be a welcomed option. The St. Peter food pantry is open to anyone living in Antioch. You don't have to be a registered member of the church and you don't have to be Catholic. In fact, it is not based on any religious affiliation whatsoever; it is there for those who find themselves with an empty larder and some hungry mouths to feed.

The St. Peter food pantry is open every Tuesday afternoon from 4-7 p.m. It is located in the old convent, which is across the parking lot from the church and next to the school building. There is a great bunch of caring volunteers to assist your needs, and be assured every recipient is held strictly confidential. If you know of anyone who may benefit from this opportunity, or if you yourself are having a tough time making ends meet and would welcome a few staples to supplement your food supply, by all means please stop by and take advantage of the generosity of these fine folks.

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle."

Readers with information for "Jingle from Pringle" should call Lynn Pringle at 395-6364.

Cruising The Great Lakes

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Yes, you read that right. Cruise ships are again sailing the Great Lakes. You won't even have to worry about catching a flight home since your final port of call is Chicago!

Three cruises are being offered this year by a company called Great Lakes Cruise Company. You also have the choice of sailing on a full size cruise liner or a brand new luxury yacht.

The German Cruise ship, the MV Columbus will depart from Windsor Ontario on September 13 for a nine day cruise arriving in Chicago on September 22.

Among it's many interesting stops will be Sault Ste. Marie which will feature an all-day train excursion to Agawa Canyon.

Another exciting port of call is Mackinac Island. After exploring this 19th Century village, you'll set sail under one of the longest suspension bridges in the world.

A cruise of the Great Lakes would not be complete without a stop in Door County for a full-day tour of its lighthouses, parks and beaches.

Your final stop will leave you only a few miles from home. You'll disembark on September 22 at Navy Pier in Chicago.

The MV Columbus offers 134 lakeview cabins, 63 inside cabins and 8 suites. All have fully equipped bathrooms with hair dryers, TV and telephone. In addition to a large restaurant, the Columbus offers a dance lounge and bar as well as a wine bar, library, swimming pool, fitness room and other amenities.

Dr. David Jude, a renowned fishery biologist, will be on-board the MV Columbus. Dr. Jude is one of the leading research experts on the fishes of the Great Lakes.

Two more Great Lakes sailings, June 9 and September 23, will be aboard the French Luxury Yacht, Le Levant. Now this is what I call cruising!

The eight night cruises on the Le Levant will visit many of the same ports as the MV Columbus. However, everyone will think you're Aristotle Onassis when you sail into port on this two year old sleek luxury yacht. You'll also get a better view of secluded coves and remote coastlines of the upper Great Lakes, since that's what this yacht was designed for.

The June 9 sailing will feature Dr. Eugene Stoermer, a research scientist for the Center for Great Lakes and Aquatic Sciences.

Last year this program was a complete sell out months before the first sailing. I would expect an even earlier sell out this year.

Featured will be a speaker from the Anthony Robbins nationally acclaimed motivational group. The group focuses on how to get peak performance from yourself and your employees. Admission is free, and those attending will receive a tour of the school. For more information, call the Antioch Chamber of Commerce at 395-2233.

Geology presentation

The Antioch Public Library will host Raymond Wiggers' presentation called "Coal Swamps, Coral Reefs and Continental Glaciers: A Look at Prairie-State Geology." He will also present a slide lecture of scenic geological sites in Illinois. The event will take place on Wednesday, May 3 at 7 p.m. in the meeting room of the library.

Wiggers is the author of the popular earth science guidebook Geology Underfoot in Illinois. To sign up stop by the circulation desk, or contact the library at 395-0874.

Church plans pilgrimage

The Antioch Evangelical Free Church will host a 10-day tour of Israel March 12-21, 2001. The event will be led by Senior Pastor David Groleau.

The excursion is open to people of all churches, at a total cost of $2100. The fee includes round trip airfare from O'Hare to Tel Aviv, five-star hotels, breakfast and dinner buffets and a guided bus tour.

For more information on this outing call 395-4117.

Event cancelled

The Antioch Public Library cancelled a children's party and book-reading scheduled for April 11 due to an act of vandalism which occurred approximately six weeks ago. The event was to be in honor of National Library Week and has not been rescheduled.

Antioch Rotary Club to host Thai exchange student

By TIM FROEHLIG
Staff Reporter

The Rotary Club of Antioch will be hosting a foreign exchange student from Thailand during the 2000-2001 school year.

The student is a 16-year-old male, who has studied the English language for several years. He will be enrolled at Antioch Community High School full-time. The club is seeking a family to host the student for approximately three and a half months of his stay.

Youth exchange coordinator Stan Livermore said that when a student visits the country here, another American-born student usually leaves. Upon the arrival of the student from Thailand in August, one will leave Antioch Community High School for Mexico.

"The youth exchange is a two-way street—inbound as well as outbound," he said.

Participating families will be facilitated with an exchange officer who lives in Antioch and will be available for further guidance throughout the school year. The Rotary Club will also compensate hosts with $100 monthly and will pay for the cost of all school needs, including lunches.

The club has been participating in the youth exchange program in excess of 15 years, according to Livermore.

"Rotary has an organization that has established relationships with about 50 or 55 countries," said Livermore, who called the program "a cornerstone of rotaries."

He stated that two families have already been selected for the student, but a third is still needed.

The student has been competitively selected for this experience. For more information contact Stan Livermore at 395-4200.

All the right moves

Call it fate. Call it having the right connections.

Whatever the case, West Oak School in Mundelein and the Chicago Bears put together a winning combination for last weekend's 1st Annual West Oak School Celebrity basketball game, held at Mundelein High School.

Faculty representatives from West Oak, Fremont, Carl Sandburg, Hawthorn and Santa Maria had the enviable task of taking on James 'Big Cat' Williams, Piccolo Award winner, receiver Marcus Robinson, Jerry Azumah, Barry Minter, Jim Miller and Tony Parrish.

Masterminding the event was West Oak Assistant Principal Lea Keilwitz and Francie Portrey, Cubby Bear North's Director of Marketing and Development.

Keilwitz called Portrey, who's sixth-grade daughter Stephanie is a student at West Oak, and asked for her representation on the discipline committee.

Portrey, who previously was the Bears' Manager for Special Events, in turn proposed the idea of putting on a basketball game.

"Francie was tremendous and very instrumental in putting this all together," said Keilwitz. "She got the players and The Jesse White Turnbblers. The sponsors, concessions, volunteers—there were a lot of phone calls. It took about three weeks to put together but it was well worth it."

Portrey was equally excited about the 'team effort' with Keilwitz. "It's a wonderful concept for the players and students," she said. "We're thrilled with the turnout and we're very thankful for Mundelein allowing us to use their facility."

As far as the game, there was a Globetrotter-like atmosphere. And who better to have as a 'Clown Prince' than the Bears' 'Big Cat' Williams, acting as his team's coach as well as recruiting specialist.

It was 'Big Cat's' latter responsibility that wound up taking center stage midway through the first half. He began drawing youngsters from the crowd to sub for Azumah and Parrish, who apparently weren't performing up to snuff.

Of course, this was all in good fun because after all, seeing the kids happy was the main focus. The byproduct was several overwhelmed youngsters being treated to at least a few minutes of action—and many of them scored!

"Not many people who live farther away get the chance to go to a (Bears) game," said quarterback Jim Miller during an autograph session following the game. "It's great because we make the kids happy and it's for charity. It just let's them see that there's a person behind the helmet."

It was a dream-come-true for one West Oak eighth-grader, Erin Stark, who just so happened to be celebrating her 14th birthday, replaced Lance Parrish for a few minutes and wound up popping in a short jumper. "This is awesome because I'm a huge Bears fan," said Stark, who incidentally plays forward for conference champion West Oak.

All proceeds went to West Oak School for uniforms, technology development and new PE equipment.

"Next year, we'd like to sell T-shirts and have cheerleaders and autographed nerf footballs," she said.

Oh, the Bears, led by hot-doggin' Marcus Robinson's 30-something points, won the game 93-44.

Sequoit netters showing they belong among county's elite

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

The Antioch varsity boys volleyball team continues to improve by leaps and bounds.

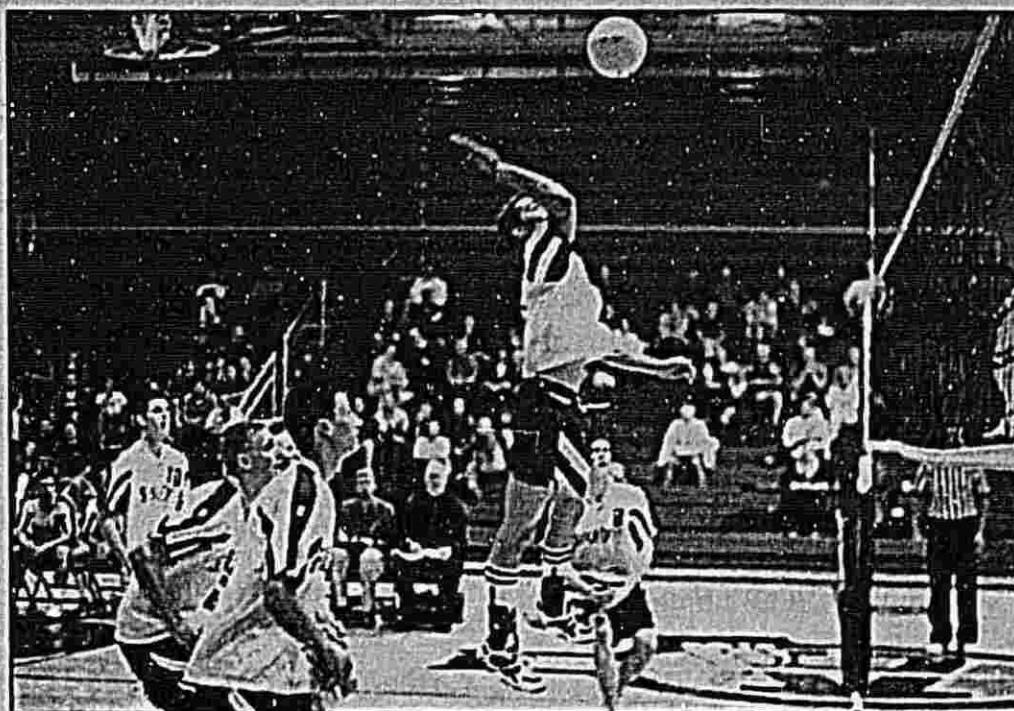

That was evident as the Sequoits, playing in one of the tougher pools, claimed fourth-place in last weekend's 12-team Lake County Invitational hosted by Stevenson. Antioch won its pool with a 2-1 record and finished 4-2 overall for the event.

"That's a lot better than we've done in the past," said head coach Heather Coleman. "Hopefully, we gained a little respect along the way."

In the third-place match Saturday, Antioch had Deerfield on the ropes before falling in three sets 7-15, 15-7, 15-12.

"We just ran out of gas against Deerfield," noted Coleman. "We could have done a lot better had we not averaged 18 hitting errors per match."

Antioch also had Libertyville on the ropes in the semifinals but again, hitting errors cost them as they fell 15-8, 6-15, 15-12.

Aaron James tallied a season-high 18 kills against the Wildcats as the Sequoits lost an 8-1 advantage in the third and deciding game.

For the tournament, James was 83-for-104 hitting with 45 kills. Running mate Ryan Keefe followed with 91-of-112 hitting and 37 kills, and setter Adam Jordan was 234-for-253 setting with 90 assists over the six-game stretch.

"Jordan is only a sophomore but has done an excellent job of running the plays," said Coleman.

The Sequoits started the tournament by losing to Waukegan 15-12, 10-15, 16-14. Hitting errors again spelled doom for Antioch as it committed 22 in that match.

"We were up 14-10 but lost because of too many mistakes," added Coleman.

In an effort to reduce those errors, Coleman and the gang have been working on hitting the ball harder this week in practice.

"We're also working on setting as well," said Coleman. "We need to hit harder and pick better spots. If we do that, we'll be able to put the ball away more effectively."

Antioch (6-8, 1-0 NSC) travels to Mundelein Wednesday, April 26 for a key North Suburban match. Tip-off is slated for 6 p.m.

Lancers baseball slugs their way to first place

By ROB BACKUS
Staff Reporter

A few weeks ago, the Lancers appeared to be lost as poor defense would ruin good hitting and pitching performances game after game.

"We couldn't field the ball," said Head coach Gene Hanson. "And when we could we couldn't throw it."

CLC was averaging four errors a game and more importantly their confidence was non-existent.

"I was mad about it at first but eventually I had to laugh about it because it's a game," said Hanson.

The approach seemed to work as the Lancers' defense has noticeably improved over the past few games especially in Tuesday's double header against conference rival Moraine Valley.

The Lancers swept both games to improve their record to 25-13 overall and, more importantly, 7-1 in Skyway conference play, which currently puts them in first.

CLC won the first game 7-5 on a gem from former Warren lefty Jake Hanson (6-1).

Hanson faced the minimum through five innings surrendering just two hits.

However, after striking out the first batter of the sixth inning, Hanson walked one and gave up five consecutive hits which led to five runs.

"Jake pitched a good game," said Hanson. "He just had a bad inning." Former Carmel player Mike Kaywood was a force at the plate, going 3-for-3 with a third inning grand-slam, five RBI and two runs scored.

Brett McCollum from Antioch had a solo homer in the fourth while Ryan and Matt Liebgott from Libertyville each went 2-for-3 with two runs scored.

"It was a key game for us to win," said Hanson. "But the second game was just as important and more exciting."

The Lancers were down 6-1 in the third inning before they quickly struck back with five runs in the third to tie the game at six.

CLC also scored five runs in the fifth to take an 11-6 lead. Moraine Valley answered with one in the bottom of the fifth but that ended the scoring as the Lancers won the game 11-7.

Pitcher Barth Morreale (3-1) from Libertyville went the distance giving up seven hits and walking six while fanning four.

Morreale was dominant after the second inning which saw him walk three batters and give up two straight doubles. CLC's only error of the double header also contributed to the six run inning.

Matt Liebgott went 3-for-4 with two RBI and two runs scored while Jeff LaBelle went 2-for-3 with three RBI and a run scored. Keith Colosi provided the spark that led to the comeback with a three-run home-run in the third.

"Our defense was fantastic in the double header," said Hanson. "If we can avoid errors the offense (ten runs per game) will carry us."

The most important double header of the season awaits CLC at home on Saturday at 12:00 against Elgin.

Winning streak hits nine; Sequoits baseball now sizzling at 12-2

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

Judging by the way things are going, it doesn't matter who's batting because anyone in the Sequoit varsity baseball lineup is bound to pose a serious threat.

"There's no such thing as the bottom of the order in our lineup," said head skipper Paul Petty. "Everybody has the potential top put the ball in play."

The Sequoits (12-2, 1-0) most recent victim was visiting Palatine Saturday, where the hosts came away with a 5-3, 6-1 doubleheader sweep to extend their winning streak to nine games.

Brad Groth has been producing timely hits of late, going 1-for-3 with two RBI in the nightcap. Hitting towards the bottom of the order, Jimmy Richardson has also contributed key hits, much to Petty's delight.

"We haven't had too many weak links in the lineup lately," the coach said.

Tied 1-1 in the nightcap, Antioch broke away by putting a 5-spot on the board in the sixth inning.

For the game, Tim Clutter went 1-for-3, Brandon Clutts 1-for-2 with an RBI and Joe Finkelberg 1-for-2 with two RBI.

Pitcher Chris Malec (4-0) has contributed to the Sequoits solid pitching staff. Malec fanned three while tossing a two-hitter in game two.

Meanwhile, Brady Schultz upped his record to 3-0 on the young season, firing a five-hitter with one strikeout in the opener against Palatine. Clutts pitched the last 1 1/3 inning for the save.

Ahead 3-2 in the fifth, Antioch crosses the plate once and never looked back. Chris Kocinski was 1-for-2 with a double and brother Nick went 1-for-1.

The Sequoits played near errorless ball on the day, committing only one.

Character and the ability to come back have been a trademark thus far for Antioch. Such was the case in a 6-3 victory over Deerfield last week, a game that featured a four-run seventh by the visitors.

Nick Kocinski was 2-for-4 with three RBI, Richardson 3-for-4, and Groth 1-for-4 with an RBI.

Clutts earned the pitching victory, fanning four while allowing just three hits in going the distance.

"Brandon pitched well today," said Petty. "He started slow but then made some changes and finished strong. That was a tough game but we came up with some key hits in the seventh."

Antioch travels to North Chicago Thursday, April 20 for a 4:30 p.m. North Suburban contest followed by a doubleheader at Round Lake Saturday beginning at 10:30 a.m.

Antioch Community High School tennis improves to 5-0

The Antioch varsity boys tennis team's success continued with a 4-1 victory over Carmel Monday.

Winners included Jason Love at No. 2 singles, Jim Gramhofer/Jason Darfler at No. 1 doubles, Dan O'Connell/Nick Kidric at No. 2 doubles and Santi Andio/Alex Andruetti at the third position.

The Sequoits rolled to the title Saturday in the Antioch Quad.

All aforementioned players, plus

No. 1 singles player Magnus Boesen, all ran away with first-place medals as the hosts accumulated 15 points. North Shore was a distant second with eight followed by St. Edwards (5) and Rockford East (2).

This was the second tournament in as many tries that the Sequoits have emerged with the gold.

The team travels to Libertyville Thursday, April 20 for a 4:30 NSC matchup.

Carmel High School is pleased to announce this summer's Sports Camp program. Camps are offered for boys and girls in several sports at the third through 12th grade levels. This year's camps include baseball, basketball, cheerleading, football, running, soccer, tennis, volleyball and wrestling. All camps run during the months of June and July.

Camps are coordinated and coached by the Carmel head varsity coach of each sport and are designed for the age level of the participants. Athletic Director Andy Bitto believes that "This is a great opportunity for your child to learn solid athletic techniques for individual sports while being exposed to positive role models."

Registrations will be accepted up to and including the first day of camp. For additional information, call Mr. Bitto at 327-6328. Interested parties may also contact Mr. Bitto via e-mail at Abitto@carmel.lake.k12.il.us.

Golf Scene

And, tis the season. Come and sharpen your golf skills this season with lessons offered at the Lake County Forest Preserves' Countryside Golf Club-traditional and prairie golf courses near Mundelein and Thunderhawk Golf Club near Beach Park and Zion beginning May 9. Both private and group lessons for adults are available from PGA teaching professionals.

Group sessions, which consist of five one-hour lessons, are available for beginner/intermediate level players at Countryside, and beginners or advanced golfers at Thunderhawk.

At Countryside, classes meet from 5:45-6:45 p.m. on select Tuesdays and Thursdays in May, June and July, class size is limited to 15 students per session, guaranteeing personal attention. Fee for the five-week program is $75.

Beginner classes at Thunderhawk meet from 5:30-6:30 p.m. and advanced classes meet from 6:45 to 7:45 p.m., on consecutive Tuesdays and Thursdays from May 9 through May 23. Class size is unlimited. Fee for either five-week program at Thunderhawk is $60.

Pre-registration and pre-payment are required for adult group lessons. Balls are provided. Students should bring their own clubs. Equipment is available upon request.

Private lessons, available at both golf courses, provide one-on-one instruction and are designed for golfers of all abilities. Lessons can be arranged to suit the student's schedule and are taken by appointment only. Prices vary per PGA instructor. Range balls must be purchased by students prior to each private lesson.

For more information on group or private lessons, call Countryside Golf Club-traditional and prairie golf courses at 566-5544 or Thunderhawk Golf Club at 872-HAWK.

Countryside is located on Hawley Rd., just west of Rte. 60 and 83, near Mundelein. Thunderhawk is located at 39700 N. Lewis Ave. near Beach Park and Zion.

Travelers off to fast start

Lake Villa's 11 year-old traveling baseball team opened its season in fine fashion last week, posting three consecutive victories. The Traveler's swept two games at Lake in the Hills, winning game one 3-2 followed by a 6-5 decision in the nightcap.

In the opener, Lake Villa's pitching looked sharp as Carl Stream recorded six strikeouts and Sean Hertz seven in halting the General's offense.

Danny Sheridan also played an instrumental role on the defensive.

Ross Morway led the offense with Matt Limbert, Steve Klein, Hertz, Stream, and Jimmy Humphrey also contributing solid hits.

In game two, Klein was impressive on the mound. Jake Cobb, Morway and Zach Amrein all turned in solid defensive efforts. At the plate, Amrein was 2-for-2 while Hertz, Morway, Billy Battistone and Stream collected hits as well.

To finish up the opening week of play, the Travelers romped past Lake Zurich 17-2. Pitcher Stream fanned four in going a solid four innings on the mound. Amrein, Sheridan and Josh Manninen each pitched an inning. Cobb went 2-for-2, Limbert 2-for-3 with a double, and Hertz 2-for-4 to pace a solid attack on offense. Brian Schmidt, Stream and Klein also collected singles in the lopsided victory.

Lakers crowned twice

Playing in two tournaments on the same day in two different cities would normally present a problem for most basketball teams. But this was not the case for the Lakeland-based Lakers eighth-grade basketball team. That's because the team split their squads. One team captured the Hoops Fest 2000 championship at Niles West High School while the other finished a respectable second at the North American Basketball Classic, held in Kenosha, Wisconsin. The Lakers overall record on the young season stands at 15-1.

At Niles West, the team won three straight games in claiming the title. In the opener, guard Julian Lott scored 18 points and forward Ivan Turner added 14 points and eight rebounds. Center Eric Viemeisel chipped in 10 points while grabbing 11 boards as the Lakers cruised past the West Chicago Travelers, 72-45. Viemeisel then poured in 17 points to go along with nine rebounds as the Lakers pounded the Oak Park Stars 68-41 in the semifinals. Lott added 12 and Turner nine points and six steals. In the title game, Matt Corning of Mundelein scored eight points, grabbed 10 rebounds and dished out nine assists as the Lakers downed Hoffman Estates, 61-42. Reggie Johnson of Waukegan tallied six points, eight assists and seven steals and Lott added 12 points and Turner 10.

Meanwhile, at the North American Basketball Classic in Kenosha, the other half of the Lakers claimed second place. In the opening round, the Lakers edged the Racine Rage 45-43 behind center Mark Williams' eight points and 11 rebounds. Williams, from Antioch, was complemented by forward Justin Joneikis' seven points, six rebounds and five assists. Guard Alex Morrison of Zion tallied scored only five points but defensively, collected seven steals. In semifinal action, the Lakers pulled away from a 28-28 tie early in the second half to win going away, 55-40. Forward Eric Studdard scored six points and grabbed nine rebounds and guard Marcus Ruskin added five points, eight assists and nine rebounds. The Lakers lost to the Kenosha Spirit in the title game 48-44 despite holding a six-point lead with less than two minutes left in regulation. Williams popped in seven points, grabbed eight rebounds and Justin Joneikis scored six points, dished out seven assists, and grabbed five rebounds. Studdard added four points and six rebounds and Morrison played excellent defense, collecting eight steals.

The Lakers travel to Menomonee, Wisconsin this weekend to compete in the AAU Great Lakes Regional. They will face the Green Bay Clippers in opening-round play Friday, April 21.

A second Laker eighth-grade boys team is being formed. Tryouts will be held next week. Any eighth-grade youth interested in trying out should call Mr. Vince Edwards at (847) 356-3662. The tryout is scheduled for Tuesday evening, April 25.

By Steve Peterson Staff Reporter

Armed with binoculars, hiking boots and a common interest in birds, they flocked to Volo Bog on a Saturday morning. "This is one of our larger groups," volunteer naturalist Marv Schwartz said.

The Volo Bog State Natural Area is host to many species of spring migrating birds. Birds seen in the spring that remain throughout the nesting season include great blue and green herons, great egrets, wood ducks, sharp-shinned and Cooper's hawks, state-threatened sandhill cranes, Virginia rails, American woodcocks and common snipe. More than 170 species have been documented at the Volo Bog State Natural Area with nearly 70 known or suspected to nest on the site.

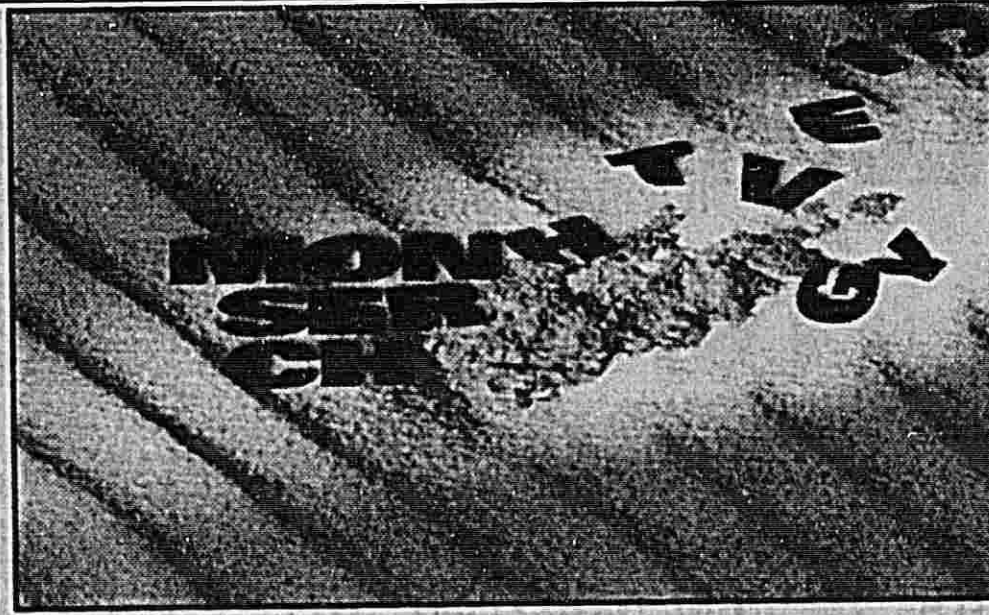

"We see a lot of waterfowl in the spring. Egrets are strong and so are sandhill cranes. Sandhill cranes were once endangered, but have been upgraded to threatened. We also have pied-billed grebe and amber tree sparrows. Stacy Miller, naturalist at Volo Bog State Natural Area, said.

"Stop, look and listen when you are out on the trail. You miss a lot when you are just walking," Schwartz said.

On that note, the 20 participants headed out on the 2.75-mile-long Tamarack Trail. Miller said the bird counts have been popular this year. "We have them every month, but cut back in the winter. Marv has been doing this for 15 years. He does a great job and Randy Schierz is an excellent birder," Miller said.

"I enjoy looking at the birds. I see a lot more here than in Arlington Heights," Richard Schupner of Woodstock said. "We have some Canada geese, mallards and swans," he said.

"I enjoy going for Sunday walks and seeing the bluebirds," Eileen Perry, from Ingleside, but originally from DuPage County, said.

"I love hawks. I bring along some pretty standard binoculars," Karen Lund of Fox River Grove, said. "People really get into it. There are so many stores. It is nice to know people are interested in conservation. I hope it is not just a phase."

Early on during the three-hour walk, Schwartz pointed out that nest boxes are placed strategically so the birds' predators do not get too accustomed to their location. Raccoons can reach into some nest boxes and steal birds' eggs.

"You won't see too many woodland birds in April, not until May. When you hear a lot of racket, you hear the birds marking their territory," Schwartz said.

An egret and a woodpecker were among the first birds seen along the trail. A small flicker, seen darting from branch to branch, a tree swallow quickly flying in search of food were on hand.

"Sometimes the tree swallows come back too early. There is a bufflehead and a blue wing teal. The males are the ones in colorization and tend to stand out," Schwartz said.

He noted some wood duck boxes nearby. "They were on the endangered species list because of loss of habitat and hunting pressure. They have made a pretty strong comeback," Schwartz said.

The robin used to be a sure sign of spring. Now they are the Rodney Dangerfield of birds—it doesn't get any respect. In fact, robins are not even counted.

"Robins are so beautiful," Schwartz said.

Swans are not native to the Ingleside bog, but last year, a family of five were hatched. They can be disruptive to the habitat. The ornamental swans were originally from England, bird walk participants learned. They also learned the House Finch was once on the west coast, moved to New York City, where several were released before the owner could be prosecuted.

"There are a couple of phoebees. They are fly catchers, like to live in culverts and buildings. They like to perch and catch insects," Schwartz said.

Schwartz, a retired engineer, said Volo Bog has improved a lot over the years. "Each spring, I have to get tuned into the bird calls," Schwartz said.

"We'll come back. We've only been to the boardwalk before. We would like to come back before the bugs come out," a Fox Lake couple, originally from Minnesota, observed.

Volo Bog is the only bog in Illinois that has a fresh-water feature. The site is run by the Illinois Department of Natural Resources.

Kris Fitzsimmons of Ingleside, is a frequent volunteer helper. Her group maintains gardens near the visitors' center. "We come back here at least once a month to water and feed it. We also monitor sites."

Future bird walks are planned with Schwartz and-or Schietzelt on May 13, 21 and 27 at 8 a.m. and throughout the summer. They are designed for novices or advanced birders, and both were found in the first group. Adults and attentive children ages seven and up are welcome. To make a reservation, call (815) 344-1294.

Birds receive home treatment at Spring Grove business

A Spring Grove store is in the business of helping fine feathered friends.

It's a Bird's Life is open at 2104 Rte. 12 in Spring Grove. The store, owned by Bob and Donna Skinner, specializes in backyard wildlife needs.

Hummingbirds and cardinals to squirrels' habitat and diet may improve due to the store, which has been open for since December.

"Birds need shelter and water year-round. Water is the most important thing in the winter, because the birds' natural sources are frozen. Also, many people do not feed the birds in the wintertime because it is inconvenient," said owner Bob Skinner.

The store offers an array of bird feeders, heated bird baths and food of all types—from bird food such as suet to peanuts to droll Yankees, woodlink and duncraft bird feeders.

"The Purple Martins and the robins are the first to come back. But 80 percent of all baby birds never make it, there may be a late snow, predators, or weather," Donna Skinner said.

The Skinners had considered opening the store for many years. They chose a storefront in the town where they live.

"We have always had a pond in our backyard," said Skinner. "We go out to the feeders daily before coming to the store."

Donna Skinner grew up in Gurnee; family had three acres near the Des Plaines River. As a youth, she was active in 4-H projects, according to her mom, Gail Gloede.

The National Wildlife Federation has certified their backyards, which have dozens of bird feeders.

Her great grandfather owned 200 acres what is now Chain O' Lakes State Park. "I like to take my grandson there," Skinner said.

Volo Auto Museum announces 28th Annual Spring Auction

This 1962 Jeep Gala Surrey (DJ-3A), inspired Tonka executives to make the Tonka Toy Jeep Surrey, and will be featured in the Volo Auto Museum's Spring Auction, May 6-7.

The Batmobile and the Tonka Jeep are featured in the Volo Auto Museum's Spring Auction-May 6-7.

The 28th Annual Spring Collector Car Auction is just weeks away, and a wide variety of outstanding collectible cars are already lined up for the sale. Everything from the delightfully simple-a King Midget-to a simply delightful 1931 Cord L29 Roadster with a mere 13,800 miles on the odometer.

Special attractions include a car inspired by a comic book superhero—and the jeep that inspired a best selling story.

The Batmobile needs no introduction. Star on the TV show of the late 60's, the Batmobile is an integral part of American Pop Culture. In the same decade, around 1962, Tonka Toys purchased a Jeep Surrey with a fringe on top—and it inspired one of the hottest selling toys of the time, very popular with toy collectors today. This 1962 Jeep is thoroughly documented as the original Tonka Jeep—right down to the Tonka Toy Jeep used as a hood ornament. It's pretty in pink, with pink and white striped top and interior.

With weeks left to go, the lineup already includes a broad spectrum from a Cushman Motorscooter to a pair of Rolls Royces. Now is the ideal time to consign a car to the Volo Auction to take full advantage of the advance publicity. All consigned cars can be seen on the internet: www.kruseinternational.com. The list is growing rapidly, with several more cars added every day. The total sale is limited to no more than 350 cars. That's the 28th Annual Volo Spring Auction—May 6-7.

The sale is conducted by Ebay/Kruse International, presented by Dodge, and hosted by the Volo Auto Museum. Events run from 10-5 each day. Admission is $8 for adults - $3 for kids under 12.

A family affair, Old Volo offers the pleasure of three antique malls, a Mercantile Building full of gifts and collectibles and, of course, four Auto museums with some 250 cars on display for sale. Volo is about 50 miles northwest of Chicago at the intersection of Highways 12 and 120.

For further information, contact: Bill Grams, Volo Auction Host 815/385-3644.

Answer

HOROSCOPE

Aries — March 21/April 20

Don't get caught up in the moment and say whatever comes to mind when out with an intriguing person early in the week, Aries. Think before you speak, or else you could scare him or her off. Don't reveal your true feelings just yet; it's too early in your relationship. Gemini plays a key role on Friday.

Taurus — April 21/May 21

Try to control your temper when having a discussion with a co-worker. This person isn't thinking logically and is saying whatever comes to mind. Explain your point of view. Giving sound reasons is sure to make this person agree with you. A loved one needs a shoulder to cry on. Be there for him or her.

Gemini — May 22/June 21

You have a quiet week ahead of you. While it may seem boring, enjoy it, because things are going to get hectic very soon. That special someone invites you out for a night on the town late in the week. Say yes, because it's sure to be a good time. Virgo plays a key role on Wednesday.

Cancer — June 22/July 22

Don't let your conscience get the best of you when it comes to a disagreement with a friend. He or she insults you, and you have to defend yourself. Don't feel guilty about it. However, don't hold a grudge either. Call this person, and try to work things out. This friendship is worth the effort.

Leo — July 23/August 23

A co-worker turns to you in a time of need. While you aren't close with this person, be there for him or her. He or she really needs to talk to someone. Do your best to help. An old friend you haven't heard from in a while calls you out of the blue. Catch up with him or her. You're sure to learn some interesting information.

Virgo — Aug 24/Sept 22

A lot of people are counting on you to finish an important task early in the week, Virgo. Don't let them down. Work diligently, and don't get distracted. It's the only way that you'll get things done. An interesting person asks you out. Say yes, because this could be the one.

Libra — Sept 23/Oct 23

An acquaintance tries to pull a fast one on you. Don't let him or her get away with it. Be skeptical of what this person tells you. If it sounds too good to be true, it probably is. That special someone asks you an important question. Answer honestly.

Scorpio — Oct 24/Nov 22

Don't let your ego get the best of you this week, Scorpio. Try to be humble when meeting with an important business associate. Arrogance only will make you look bad. A loved one asks a favor of you. Do what you can for him or her, because you know that this person would try to help you if the situation were reversed.

Sagittarius — Nov 23/Dec 21

Don't beat around the bush when talking with the person whom you've been seeing. Let him or her know exactly how you feel — even if he or she doesn't want to hear what you have to say. This is the best thing to do for your relationship. Aquarius plays an important role on Saturday.

Capricorn — Dec 22/Jan 20

A close friend asks you to lie for him or her. While it will help this person stay out of trouble, don't do it. He or she got into this situation alone; he or she can get out of this situation alone. Don't get involved. A loved one offers you romantic advice. While it may seem silly, take it. It's sure to work.

Aquarius — Jan 21/Feb 18

An acquaintance offers to assist you with a personal problem. While you're surprised by this, say yes. He or she truly can help rectify the situation. This will bring the two of you closer. A family member asks for your advice. Be honest.

Pisces — Feb 19/March 20

It seems as if everyone wants something from you this week, Pisces. You just don't have time for yourself. Don't get frustrated. You must learn how to say no. While some will get upset, most will understand. Don't feel guilty about this either. You need time for yourself.

SPECIAL EVENT

Award-winning storyteller to perform on Earth Day

April 22 is the 30th anniversary of the first earth day celebration. This year's Earth Day celebration is free and will be held Saturday, April 22, at McHenry County College in Crystal Lake from 10 a.m.-4 p.m., rain or shine. The theme is "What a Wonderful World," which emphasizes Earth Day as a celebration of the accomplishments in the environmental movement as well as a chance to learn more. This Earth Day will be one to remember.

Helping the celebration this year is Award-winning storyteller Jim May. Jim is a storyteller who speaks in the natural, matter-of-fact style of the fathers, horse traders and small-town raconteurs who populated rural McHenry County, where his family has lived since the 1940's. He tells original stories of growing up in the tiny Catholic farming community of Spring Grove. These stories that are both hilarious and touching range from, "How to Become 'Most Valuable Alter Boy' (MVAB)," to horse trading tales and heart-warming memories of family life.

His stories for children are from traditional sources. These folk tales, myths, legends and ghost stories from various cultures worldwide have the humor and wisdom of the great tales that have been preserved in every culture and handed down orally from one generation to the next. Jim May's stories have taken him across the United States and Europe. He has told at schools, corporations, professional groups, and festivals across the land. Chicagoans know him from his appearances on WGN's Roy Leonard Show and from the Studs Terkel radio show on WFMT-FM. He received a 1989 Chicago Emmy award for a WTTW-Channel 11 production of his original story, "A Bell For Shorty."

Jim will be performing at 11 a.m. in the McHenry County College Conference Center.

The Earth Day events will also include booth displays and activities which will be available the entire day. Participant's booths will represent a wide range of interests such as solar energy, waste reduction, recycling, water quality, land use, environmental products and hybrid auto technology from Honda, just to name a few. Some of the exciting activities planned are: on-site creation of a cob oven, hands-on solar energy education programs, worm composting demonstrations, soap-crafting, recycled art exhibit, no-work garden demonstration, and live birds of prey demonstration.

For more information, contact the McHenry County Defenders at 815/338-0393.

COMEDY

Klein

Comedian Robert Klein to perform

In a rare club appearance, acclaimed comedian and actor Robert Klein will perform his unique and revered brand of stand-up comedy April 21-23 at Zanies, 230 Hawthorn Village Commons, Vernon Hills. Showtimes are Friday, April 21 at 8 p.m.; Saturday, April 22 at 7 & 9:45 p.m. and Sunday, April 23 at 6 p.m. Tickets are $20 plus a two item (food or beverage) minimum. For tickets and information call 549-6030.

VOLUNTEERS

Voices, piano accompanist needed

A Mundelein-based community chorus is seeking a volunteer piano accompanist and also additional voices in all ranges. Several performances have been scheduled. Rehearsals are on Sunday evenings from 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. For further information call 776-1935.

Chamber Symphony needs volunteers

If you have ever wanted an opportunity to work with a symphony orchestra and to be in on the ground level to see what makes a symphony tick, then the Illinois Chamber Symphony is looking for you. The resident orchestra at the beautiful Norris Cultural Arts Center in St. Charles, is desperately in need of community assistance and volunteers.

They are interested in individuals and community groups that would like to adopt the orchestra and assist in tasks. They would like volunteer group leaders in St. Charles and surrounding cities to help them. They are a fun organization to work within and your creativity and all ideas about how to increase the visibility of the Illinois Chamber Symphony will be entertained. Give them a call at (630)377-6423 or call the Exec. Director, Renee Baker at 630/759-7204 and we'll put your good ideas to use.

A Safe Place looking for past volunteers

A Safe Place/Lake County Crisis Center is hosting its annual Volunteer Appreciation Dinner April 27. In honor of the 20th anniversary of the non-profit agency that provides comprehensive services to victims of domestic abuse, organizers are hoping to contact all persons who have volunteered there over the years.

For more details on the Volunteer Appreciation Dinner, April 27, please call Marsha Ross at 249-5147.

Drama to educate teens, parents

The Yellow Dress, a highly acclaimed, one-woman drama about teen dating violence, will be presented at three area high schools the last week in April. Brought to Lake County for the second time in as many years by A Safe Place/Lake County Crisis Center, The Yellow Dress is an effective tool in helping students as well as adults learn about the warning signs, patterns of behavior and ways to prevent dating violence.

"With 28 percent of young people ages 14-24 experiencing dating abuse at some point in their relationships, A Safe Place is committed to developing a school as well as a community culture that does not endorse, promote or accept violence in any relationship," said Phyllis A. Demott, Executive Director of A Safe Place. "We need to educate our young people about ways to prevent the violence and where to find help if they should need it. This dramatic production is an additional tool in illustrating the issue and complements the prevention education program we offer to classrooms."

During the 1999 fiscal year, A Safe Place presented 151 programs on developing healthy dating relationships to classes in 45 different schools in the Lake County area. Community education programs reached an additional 6,000 persons as well.

Schools who will offer The Yellow Dress to their student body include Antioch Community High School (Tuesday, April 25 and Wednesday, April 26 (5 performances, including one at 7 p.m.); and Round Lake High School (Thursday, April 27).

The Yellow Dress is produced and directed by Deana's Fund, a non-profit organization based in Woburn, MA dedicated to preventing dating and domestic violence.

A Safe Place offers comprehensive services to victims of domestic violence and their children. In addition to providing more than 11,000 nights of shelter annually, A Safe Place offers free court advocacy, individual and group counseling, children's counseling and referral services. It is the only non-profits agency in Lake County to offer abuser treatment services. A 24-hour help line can be reached at 249-4450; TTY 249-6557.

Lake Villa library calling for book buddies, storytellers

Like to tell stories? The LVDL Youth Services Department is looking for 10-20 young people who are finishing Grade 3-6 and who would like to be guest storytellers for our preschool story programs this summer.

Each guest storyteller will be asked to share a story or two at one of the Drop-In Story Programs during June and July. Miss Lynn will work with each guest storyteller to help him/her select good stories to share with the 2-5 year-olds, and will meet with the storytellers to help them prepare for their performances. Storytellers may work alone or in pairs.

If you are interested in being a

Guest Storyteller this summer, stop by the Youth Services Reference Desk for information after May 1.

Registration for the popular Book Buddy program will begin on Monday, May 1, at the Youth Services Desk. This program pairs young readers who have finished grades 1 & 2 (Junior Buddies) with older reading buddies who are starting grades 6-9 (Senior Buddies). Buddy teams meet at the library once each week of the program beginning June 7 and ending July 21.

During these half-hour sessions, the buddies will read aloud to each other and discuss books and reading. The program is meant to encourage the beginning reader to continue reading during the summer. Older Buddies will serve as mentors who share an interest in books and reading.

This program is a motivational program and is not intended to be a remedial program. Half-hour training sessions for Senior Buddies will be held on Wednesday, June 7, at 2 or 7 p.m. at the library. Buddies will meet for the first time immediately following this training session, at 2:30 or 7:30 p.m. Buddies will continue to meet at times that are convenient for them. For more information about the Book Buddy program, please contact Miss Pat at 356-7711.

'High Fidelity' takes honest approach to romance

When it comes down to it, Stephen Frears' High Fidelity is a romantic comedy. But to put this movie in a category with The Truth About Cats and Dogs or You've Got Mail is to strip High Fidelity of what makes it a great movie.

Most romantic comedies revolve around some magical moment destined to bring two soul mates together. Although this notion is nice to fantasize about, it rarely, if ever, happens.

Instead of beginning with a scene depicting the protagonist as a good person who cannot seem to find the right person, High Fidelity starts just after a break-up between Rob Gordon and Laura (Iben Hjejle). John Cusack portrays Gordon, a "Generation Xer" who is nearing 30 and still does not know where he is going in his life. Gordon, a record store owner, has based his life on the music he listens to and making top five lists to rate everything he experiences ("Top five worst break-ups," "Top five songs about death").

After the break-up, Gordon begins to examine his love-life, trying to figure out where his relationships went wrong. The movie itself becomes an examination of the Generation X mentality. As the protagonist rehashes his old relationships, he does not try to find his own errors and make himself better. Instead, he finds ways to free himself from blame, justifying his bad luck with relationships as his fate rather than his fault.

The lethargy of Gordon's love-life is amplified by his job. Gordon works with Barry (Jack Black) and Dick (Todd Louiso), two "music geeks" who spend all of their time either discussing the music they like or ripping apart the music they hate. Though Barry and Dick are in the same position as Gordon, they seem content with where their lives have taken them. Gordon's need to move forward is juxtaposed against his counterparts' enjoyment of standing still, making the protagonist's situation even more urgent.

High Fidelity works because the characters are real. Yes, the audience does feel sorry for Gordon as he struggles with relationships. But at the same time, we are given reasons to criticize him. His faults are exposed. And like all humans, Gordon continually falls in to the trap of those faults. Most romantic comedies present archetypal characters who deserve to fall in love in the end. Cusack's Gordon is flawed—he does not know where he is going; he refuses to accept fault—but there is still an emotional side to him that needs nourishing.

The movie also delivers on the other side of the "romantic comedy" tag. But instead of finding humor in the relationship aspects of Gordon's life, Frears focuses the comedy on the protagonist's interactions with Barry and Dick.

In the record store sequences, Black steals scenes with his loud-mouthed, cocky portrayal of Barry, the know-it-all record store clerk who bashes his customers for their poor musical tastes.

Black gained a small amount of fame on his hilarious but never-watched HBO comedy show, Tenacious D. Black proved that more people should have watched his show and that he has a promising career in big screen comedy in the future.

High Fidelity earned four popcorn boxes. Here are my top two reasons. Number one—both its characters and its approach to romance were honest. And number two—this was the first time in a long time that I did not want the movie to end.

THEATRE REVIEW

Attic Playhouse presents 'Play On!'

Anything that can go wrong—does, in this hilarious comedy about a theatre group trying desperately to put on a play. "Play On!" is a play-within-a-play farce about a small town theatre group attempting to put on a murder/mystery written by an amateur, local playwright. She is intent on creating the perfect script no matter how many rewrites are given to the disgruntled cast and crew. Sight gags, mishaps and a number of other hilarious events take place as this ensemble moves from rehearsal to the dreaded opening night performance. The characters the "actors" portray follow the classic murder/mystery formula: a beautiful yet ditzzy ingenue, a conniving villain, a dashing young hero and a nervous maid, all being hosted to a party by the rich and stuffy lord and lady of the manor. Their "real-life" counterparts are all characters within themselves and are joined by a fussy, flamboyant director, sarcastic stage manager, cranky stage-hand and bumbling playwright.

The Attic Playhouse is located at 410 Sheridan Rd., Highwood. Performances are Fridays and Saturdays at 8 p.m. and Sundays at 3 p.m. now through May 20. Special matinees on May 13 and 20 at 3 p.m. No performances on April 23. Tickets are $14 for advanced purchase with discounts offered for seniors, students, military and groups. Dinner packages are available with "Two Guys from Italy" restaurant located in the same building. Call 433-2660 for tickets.

Fashion show to benefit 'A Safe Place'

Friends of A Safe Place invites you to their annual fashion show and luncheon "A Spring Celebration of Women," on Thursday, April 27, to benefit A Safe Place/Lake County Crisis Center. A Safe Place provides shelter and counseling services for victims of domestic violence from Lake, McHenry and northern Cook counties. The fundraising event will begin at 11:15 a.m. at Exmoor Country Club, 700 Vine Avenue, Highland Park.

The guest speaker for the day will be noted Chicago-area author, Michele Weldon. Her book, I Closed My Eyes-Revelations of a Battered Woman is widely recognized. She will hold a book signing to begin at 11:15 a.m. Michele has been writing for the Chicago Tribune Family section since 1989 and is syndicated in scores of newspapers. She also writes a regular humor column for a local magazine West Suburban Living.

Michele won first place in the Writer's Digest 1996 Writing Competition for the essay "I Closed My Eyes," which prompted the writing of her creative nonfiction memoir.

The guest fashion commentator will be Lake Forest resident,

State Representative Susan Garrett. Susan is a representative for the 59th District and is well-known in the community.

Tickets are $55 per person or you can purchase a ticket with 10 raffle tickets for $100. The ticket price includes a luncheon and fashion show presented by Mark Shale of Northbrook, Furs by Victor of Highland Park, Lillie Alexander and The Lake Forest Shop of Lake Forest, Fresh Ideas of Northfield and Harold's of Old Orchard Center in Skokie.

There will also be a raffle with exciting prizes and a silent auction of various local merchant gift certificates.

Friends of A Safe Place is a fundraising auxiliary which is dedicated to obtaining financial support for A Safe Place programs. For tickets or more information call 249-5147.

The Wolf scaring the kids in "Trial of the Big Bad Wolf" by the Waukegan Community Players

Waukegan Community Players to produce 'Trial of the Big Bad Wolf'

If you are looking for something that everyone in your family can do together, then why not come out to support your community and see who is guilty, the Wolf or the Pigs?

The Waukegan Community Players, a nonprofit organization, will be producing "Trial of the Big Bad Wolf" on May 3, 4, & 5 at 10 a.m. and 12:30 p.m., and Saturday May 6 at 1 and 3 p.m. at the Provena St. Therese Auditorium on Washington St. in Waukegan. Tickets are $3 per person and are available at the door. Parking is free.

The show is a fairy tale fantasy with humor for the whole family to enjoy.

The play, written by Joseph Robinette and directed by Payge Whipple, has a cast of 27 children, aged up to 19. They represent many local towns, including Round Lake, Lindenhurst, Grayslake, Gurnee, Waukegan and Zion.

For the Saturday show, the audience members are encouraged to dress up like their favorite nursery rhyme or fantasy character. There will be a contest at each show.

If your school is interested in booking a field trip, please call 360-1336.

BPW sponsors environmental workshop

Business Professional Women's (BPW) Clubs around Wisconsin are seeking high school girls with an interest in the environment to participate in a three-day natural resource seminar at Trees For Tomorrow this month.

The annual BPW event, scheduled for April 30 - May 3rd provides girls a chance to join in a variety of hands-on activities and field tours in the heart of the northern forest designed to add to their knowledge of resource issues and career opportunities.

BPW spokeswoman Rose Severson of Madison, WI said scholarships for the workshop are available for girls who have a sincere interest in learning more about natural resources. "These scholarships are not awarded on the basis of academic achievement," she said. "Rather, they go to girls who have an enthusiasm for the natural sciences...forestry, biology, botany, and are perhaps thinking of a career in these professions."

Trees For Tomorrow, located in Eagle River, WI is a natural resources specialty school which hosts three-day, outdoor workshops throughout the school year. The workshops emphasize forest and wildlife management, water science and other environmental subjects.

Severson said this year's workshop will run from Sunday afternoon on April 30 - Wednesday afternoon on May 3. Participating BPW chapters provide scholarships for the program, while girls who attend are generally responsible for their transportation to and from Eagle River and for arranging to make up for any school work that might be missed.

"Hundreds of high school girls have participated in the 'Trees' program over the years and nearly all report to the local club which sponsored them that the trip was worthwhile," Severson added.

"The combination of field studies taught by resource professionals in the heart of the northern forest, along with the fellowship of other girls interested in the sciences makes for a very memorable three days that leave a lasting impression. I would recommend the trip to any high school girl who cares about the future of natural resource management in this state and nation."

Severson urged girls interested in attending to call her at 608/238-1970 or Trees For Tomorrow at 800/838-9472 for additional information. "Trees" may also be e-mailed at trees@nnx.net.

Welcome to your weekend at Tropical Nights

Hosting a variety of live entertainment, Tropical Nights Club welcomes you to your weekend by showcasing the entire spectrum of music and fun.

The music that made a certain New York City night club famous is back in full swing and the sex-appeal sounds of the 70's can be relived with The Boogie Men.

The Boogie Men have rocketed into being the area's No.1 disco band in the Midwest. Covered in party gear from the era, this state of the art, retro, groovy, in your face, dance your pants off, full-on disco band, returns on Friday, April 21.

The thunderous sounds and the huge eye-candy explosions from a concert venue, that made you wait in line for hours to see and hear, is back with Cherry Pie.

Relive the "headbangers ball" sound on Friday, April 28. Teased with hairspray, Cherry Pie recreates the music that will make you remember a decade of pure fun.

Friday, April 28-"headbangers ball" returns with Cherry Pie at Tropical Nights Club in Kenosha.

Tropical Nights Club is located at 6218 22nd Ave., Kenosha, WI. Seating and parking will become limited, so get there early.

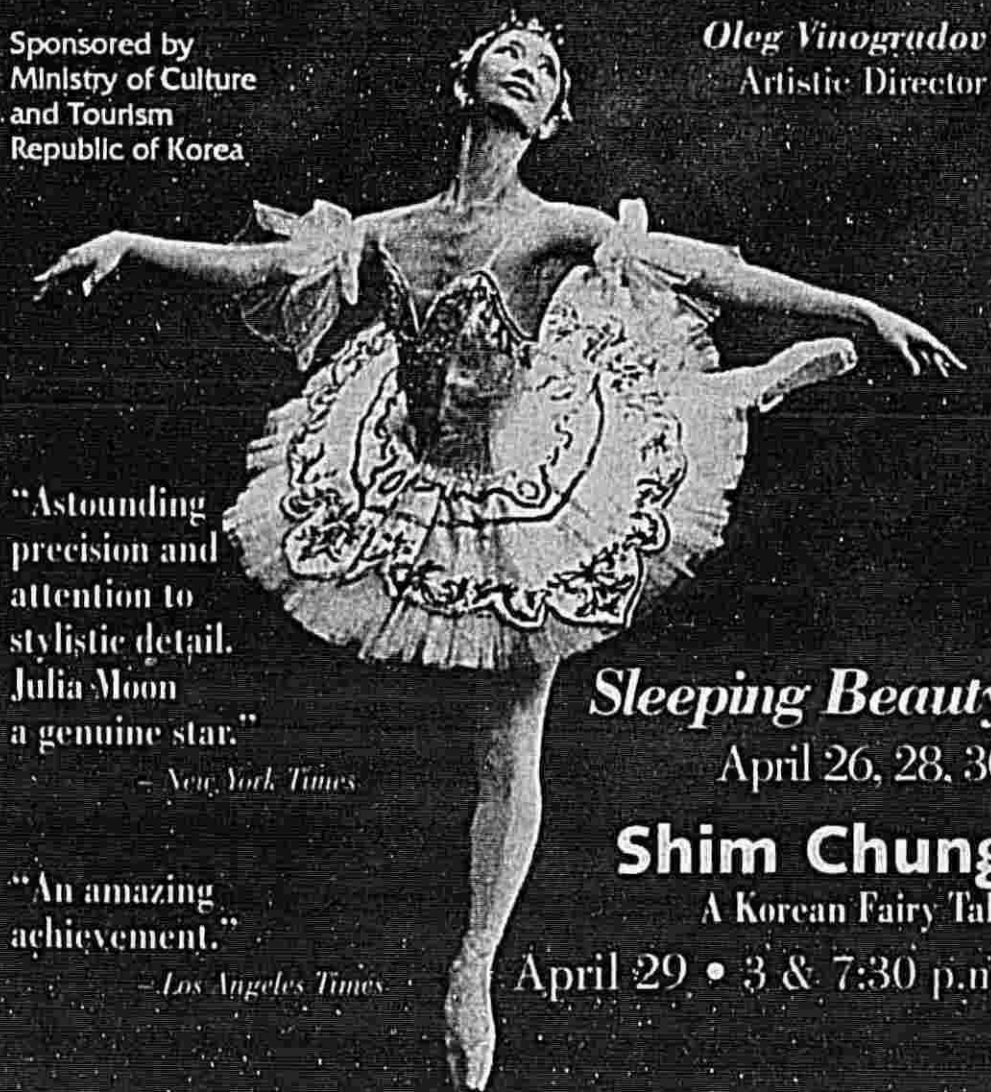

For directions and entertainment updates, you can call 262/652-4386.

Advance registration is required. Call 968-3321 to register.

Sponsors sought

Exhibitors and sponsors for the 28th Annual Seniors Day Celebration are being sought by the Lake County Forest Preserves. The event, which will be held at Lakewood Forest Preserves near Wauconda, attracts over 5,000 senior citizens throughout the Chicago area.

The event will take place June 21 from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. For more information on becoming a sponsor or exhibitor, call Catherine Savage at 968-3208.

Clerk announces ballot lottery

Lake County Clerk Willard Heider has scheduled a lottery to determine ballot position for the Republican and Democratic Parties for the Nov. 7 General Election.

The lottery will be held at 10 a.m. on April 26 in the Lake County Clerk's Office located in the County Administration Building at 18 N. County St. in Waukegan.

County is home where the Mastodon roamed

By SANDY HARTOGH
Staff Reporter

Imagine Lake County under sheets of ice 1,000 feet thick. Ice that moved slowly, chiseling the landscape into a prehistoric panorama.

Within that scene, picture a giant mammal, somewhat similar to an elephant, with long, upward curved tusks and thick brown hair. A 10-foot-tall vegetarian that was hunted by Paleo-Indians during the diminishing Ice Age.

Last Monday, at the Lake County Museum, over 100 people eagerly awaited the arrival of a life-size, fiber glass model of the ancient mastodon that, according to fossil records, roamed Lake County 12,000 years ago. With peanuts in hand, the audience watched as eight men unloaded the massive model from a flatbed truck.

The $55,000 replica was constructed by Chase Studios in Missouri. It stands about 10-feet tall and is 20-feet long. It will be part of the museum's new "Lake County Mall of History" exhibit slated to open in mid-June. However, the mastodon is available for viewing by museum patrons now, since "she" has been erected directly outside the museum doors.

According to Katherine Hamilton-Smith, curator of historical resources, the female creature will be named by the children of Lake County in a county-wide school contest.

"She (the mastodon) is trying to help us tell the ancient history of the area in a big way," stated Hamilton-Smith, who noted that the exhibit will help children to better visualize prehistoric Lake County.

"Every county needs a big creature," she continued. "The Field Museum of Chicago has its lions, and now Lake County will be famous for its mastodon."

According to Hamilton-Smith, several county area findings of mastodon bones, bone fragments and teeth lend truth to scientific beliefs that herds of mastodon in the midwest were as large as buffalo herds.

Forest Preserve creates its own 'Groundhog Day'

By SANDY HARTOGH
Staff Reporter

Like actor Bill Murray in the 1993 movie "Groundhog Day," Lake County Forest Preserve commissioners appear to be trapped in a situation that is doomed to repeat itself over and over again unless they find the key to moving forward on an issue that has become a heated controversy.

Residential flooding, apparently created by the Forest Preserve's Daniel Wright Woods in unincorporated Lincolnshire, has led to a year-long volleyball game between the Forest Preserve's Planning and Development Committee and its Finance Committee, along with residents of the River Oaks subdivision in Vernon Township.

River Oaks resident Rick Braun notified the Forest Preserve of the flooding problem last summer after hiring an engineering firm to help him contend with flooding problems that apparently stemmed from the creation of a baseball field in Daniel

McKinley succeeds Dam to lead FWA

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Fox Waterway Agency (FWA) chairman William Dam is leaving office with a bang.

Dr. Dam of Fox Lake announced he is leaving his elected FWA Board chairmanship position with a year remaining on his term.

Dam was replaced by William McKinley, a director, at last week's

FWA meeting in McHenry.

Dam announced, in one of his final acts as chairman, that efforts to obtain state funds through lobbying have been successful. FWA officials announced $1 million will be awarded to the agency through water quality funds.

Dam said there will be a smooth transition between chairmen, the

'Y' looking for heroes

By SANDY HARTOGH

Despite the fact that Lake County is considered to be one of the wealthiest counties in the state, the truth remains that low-income and poverty level households are part of the overall composition.

With that in mind, the Lake Villa based Hastings Lake YMCA states that "no one will be refused programs because of their inability to pay." Through the generosity of Hastings and individuals who donated to the YMCA's Annual Giving Campaign, 686 children and their families were able to take advantage of Hastings' programs last year with the aid of scholarship funds in the amount of $171,655.

The Annual Giving Campaign was introduced in 1992 by the YMCA of Metropolitan Chicago as a means to supplement its funding of programs for the "under-served." The campaign is utilized by all Chicago area YMCAs, with trained staff and volunteers reaching out to their service areas and requesting tax-de-

CLC receives Corps of Engineer's permit

The College of Lake County has been granted a permit from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers that will allow the college to implement a project that preserves natural areas on the Grayslake Campus while accommodating future construction, including a site being considered for the Lake County University Center.

The Corps' permit authorizes the college to place fill material in 6.46 acres of wetlands and 2.25 acres of waters of the United States. As mitigation, the college will create 8.82 acres of wetland and prairie areas and enhance 12.97 acres of wetland. Additionally, the college will develop environmental buffer zones and expand stormwater detention.

The work authorized by the Corps' permit will create two ecological corridors: a 28.9 corridor on the east side of campus and a 20.49 acre corridor on the west side of campus. The west corridor will include two stormwater detention ponds, totaling 4.49 acres.

The project is an integral component of a master plan for the Grayslake Campus developed in 1997. The plan designates areas on the campus for building expansion, natural area preservation and stormwater retention.

"We are delighted to receive the Corps of Engineers' permit," said CLC President Gretchen J. Naff. "We believe we have developed an innovative and creative plan for balancing the needs for development and preservation of natural areas."

"For several years now, we have been taking a thoughtful, strategic look at how we should manage the space on our campus," Naff said. "We know we need additional buildings to accommodate enrollment growth, and we need to provide additional stormwater detention. At the same time, we want to ensure that we preserve the natural beauty of our campus."

"The plan we developed designates areas where construction is permitted, and areas that are reserved for open space. It will serve as a guide for the use of our campus regardless of whether the University Center is built here."

The Grayslake Campus master plan reserves more than one-third of the Grayslake Campus for natural areas. The plan was developed with extensive participation by faculty in the biological and environmental sciences, according to Ron Riepe, a CLC professor of geology who chaired the campus committee that spearheaded development of the plan.

"I think the master plan offers a unique, far-sighted vision," Riepe said. "I don't know of another community college that has taken such a thoughtful approach to balancing the needs for maintaining ecological harmony, providing stormwater management and accommodating growth."

CLC faculty are working with the engineers developing the implementation plans for the project, and they will assist in developing a monitoring program to ensure that the newly created and enhanced wetlands serve as high quality habitat, Riepe said.

"We believe the project will result in a better, more diverse habitat for plants and wildlife on campus," said Linda Curtis, a CLC biology professor and author of "Aquatic Plants of Northeastern Illinois."

This enhanced habitat will be used as a "living laboratory" in CLC's biology and environmental science programs, Curtis said. "We have always used the natural areas on campus in our courses," she said. "When the project is completed, we will have more ecologically diverse ecosystems for our students to study."

In particular, faculty and students in CLC's new natural areas management program will be involved, where possible, in the planting and growing of vegetation for the project, according to horticulture professor Mark Zampardo.

"The project will include 11 different natural environments, and this will provide a great opportunity for our students to access a living laboratory right here on campus," Zampardo said.

Work on the project is scheduled to begin in early summer and to continue through fall. Planting will also begin in the fall and continue next year. Full development of wetland vegetation will require several growing seasons.

Chain users want herbicide regulated

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Fox Waterway Agency (FWA) board members heard from outdoors enthusiasts worried that herbicide use is a potential hazard to needed Chain O' Lakes weed population.

Tom Berthold and Jay Eriksen, of Competition Bassmasters of Northern Illinois, requested the FWA board take action to strengthen regulations of herbicide use on the Chain. The problem is particularly troublesome on the north end of lakes.

"I was pretty pleased with the board's reaction. I hope they follow through," Eriksen said.

"We will not have an ordinance in place for this summer, but we hope to get as much public education out as possible. The outdoors groups have offered to do this," Ingrid Enriquez, FWA director, said.

The issue surfaced in 1998 when spraying impacted the FWA's Clean Lakes Grant Study. Several meetings with IDOA (Illinois Dept. of Agriculture), IEPA and IDNR sought to clarify a loophole that existed between existing regulators and especially the FWA region. The FWA Board passed a resolution requiring anyone who sprayed to notify the FWA. Last year, all aquatic herbicides were made the main educational topic and some 1,000 educational bags were delivered to Catherine-Channel residents asking them not to spray until the study is completed.

Bassmasters and other area fishing groups asked the FWA board to vote to be the lead organization in the fight to organize and manage applications of chemicals to the Chain O' Lakes through the Illinois Department of Agriculture.

A steering committee, to be appointed by the board soon, was also requested by the fishing groups, with a prompt directive to form a program for regularly appointed pesticide and herbicide application commission. The committee will hold annual meetings at which applications may be reviewed, permitted or denied;

A moratorium to be placed on any herbicide applications on the Chain O' Lakes until a cohesive program is developed was requested by the groups.

Lake Marie and Channel Lake may have been affected by the herbicide use.

"It does appear that there are indeed large areas where the unregulated herbicide use has, or may have, contributed to the near total destruction of aquatic weed beds in some of the lakes of the Waterway," according to a FWA statement. "Weed beds form a highly important part of the ecology of the Waterway and provide essential oxygen, forage and cover to desirable species of fish and fowl."

BASS is the Bass Anglers Sportsmen's Society, Bassmasters, with more than 600,000 members and 2,800 federation clubs world wide, 80 clubs in Illinois. "BASS is absolutely devoted to the future of fresh water fishing," Berthold said.

The main problem, outdoors club members said, is the multiple users of herbicides.

"That is what we need—a monitoring program," Berthold said. "A well-developed, well-managed and well-educated body making decisions based on a well-planned and basic set of rules that are developed to help us to avoid a catastrophic scenario."

FWA Chairman William Dam asked the audience if it supports the proposal. Audience members said they did. He directed staff to work with the outdoors clubs.

AT A GLANCE

A DIGEST OF STORIES MAKING HEADLINES THROUGHOUT OUR REGION

Board agrees on Gurnee war memorial

Gurnee—Although members of the Gurnee Village Board may not have appeared to see eye to eye on several issues throughout a rather tumultuous year, they joined forces last week to resolve the controversy surrounding the placement of the Warren Township War Memorial in Esper Petersen Park.

With over 30 veterans in attendance at the April 17 village board meeting, a harmonious deal was struck between village officials, the veterans and the Esper Petersen Foundation.

The compromise, which ensures that the 10-foot tall sculpture will be unveiled on Memorial Day as planned, resulted from the quick brain-storming efforts of Trustees Verna Rocheleau and Don Rudny. The deal will allow the memorial to reside temporarily in Petersen Park while it awaits the completion of its permanent home on property adjacent to the proposed new police facility to be located at O'Plaine Rd. and Washington St.

District 79 announces teacher cuts

Mundelein—Fremont Elementary School District 79 will lose 15.8 certified teaching positions after cuts were made to cut deficit spending in the next fiscal year. The cuts come after a lost referendum that would have increased the education fund.

Among the academic programs that will be lost are academic assistance and French. Other programs, including advanced language arts and reading, special education and transitional program of instruction, will be partially cut.

On top of staffing cuts, the board proposed cuts to extracurricular activities. These cuts included eliminating funding for after-school programs, reducing sports and charging a fee for band.

Though funding for these activities may disappear, board member Andy Reider said that the programs themselves do not necessarily have to go, too. Reider said that with volunteer help from the community, these programs can continue as they are.

Island Lake trustee resigns

Island Lake—The Village of Island Lake has two vacancies in leadership positions.

Trustee Robert A. Buckley resigned from the village board with almost a year left on his present term. Richard F. Ward resigned as chairman of the village's plan commission. Village board members accepted both resignations April 13.

Both cited the village's takeover of maintenance of an outlot in their neighborhood as reasons for leaving office. The village officials have been meeting with residents about acquiring the troublesome outlot in Fox River Shores near the Fox River.

Mayor Charles Amrich said neither resignation was a surprise. He said he has no plans to fill Buckley's seat on the village board.

Church, land annexations fail

Antioch—A standing-room only crowd applauded the Village of Antioch's decision refusing to annex 40 acres owned by the Chicago Archdiocese, and 257 acres of land owned by Alfred and Dale Pederson. The vote was a 3-3 split, with Mayor Marilyn Shineflug failing to cast a vote.

Residents voiced their concerns to village officials at an April 17 public hearing, which was followed by the regular board meeting in which the proposed annexation was voted upon.

Annexation would have provided the archdiocese and the Pedersons' E-1 zoning, which allows one residential unit per acre. Many neighboring landowners have five acres or more and explained that they enjoy their rural lifestyle, not wanting additional growth adjacent to their property.

"They (Pedersons) can re-petition if they want but not without a parcel contiguous to the village," explained Village Attorney Ken Clark.

Board prohibits Hoselton to pay bills

Wadsworth—On April 18, the Wadsworth Village Board voted to once again do away with the village president's authority to sign town bills.

At a Nov. 2 meeting the board had voted to keep Village President Evelyn Hoselton from signing village checks, after she mailed a number of bills out late. However, members reversed the decision at a Nov. 16 meeting.

According to Trustee Ken Furlan, Hoselton has stepped out of bounds by removing checks from the village hall without authorization.

This move authorizes Trustees Ken Furlan, Patricia Kirschhoffer and Village Treasurer William Drennan to act as the sole signatories for the village account.

Grayslake supports Rte. 120 bypass

Grayslake—The Village of Grayslake trustees voted April 18 to support a bypass for Rte. 120 instead of widening the highway to six lanes which could displace homes and businesses.

In a 4-3 vote, a resolution in support of a six-lane bypass was approved, with trustees Stacy Braverman, John MacAulay and Cheryl Doros voting against it.

The bypass, which would run a half mile south of Rte. 120 between Wilson and Almond roads, was proposed as part of the findings of the Lake County Transportation Improvement Project (LCTIP). According to Peter Harmet, LCTIP deputy project manager, the bypass would follow the east/west leg of the proposed Rte. 53 extension and would run alongside such subdivisions as Prairie Town, Prairie Crossing and Arbor Vista.

Internet policy realized at Cook Library

Libertyville—A new Internet policy at the Cook Memorial Library took effect April 17. The new plan permits parents to choose whether or not their child should have access to unfiltered computers.

Presently, there are five Internet stations available in Cook Memorial Library's Adult Department, two of which are filtered. Signs on the unfiltered machines notify users under the age of 18 that they must have a parent's signed permission form on file to use the stations. The two public Internet stations in the Children's Department are filtered, but unfiltered access is available (with parental consent) at a staff terminal.

The library's Internet policy became the subject of debate after some claimed that filters are necessary to keep pornography out of the library system. Others opposed that view, arguing that filters violate first amendment rights.

Park district audits clubhouse options

Round Lake Beach—The Round Lake Area Park District is debating on what to do with the Renwood Golf Course clubhouse located in Round Lake Beach.

According to James Rock, park district executive director, the board has thought of conducting a study to see if the building is worth fixing. This would help determine the cost of renovating the facility and whether the district should embark on such a project. An examiner presented an offer to conduct a study for approximately $10,500, which the park district rejected.

In the meantime, the park district does plan to construct a new club house facility and is working with an architecture firm.

Dist. 41 ratifies crisis plan

Lake Villa—After several months of work, Lake Villa School District 41 administrators have unveiled a crisis plan and issued handbooks to parents, teachers and law enforcement officials, to prepare for a variety of natural and man-made crises.

While acknowledging that "no written set of rules and procedures can fully address all the situations that may occur during an emergency," the plan sets forth some basic courses of action that can be applied to most anticipated situations.

The plan addresses situations ranging from those as rare as bomb threats and bus hostage situations, to natural disasters such as earthquake, fire and tornadoes, to the more "normal" crises of serious illness or death, and behavioral disturbances.

To prepare for these situations, the school district will be conducting drills for several contingencies. Some of these drills are already a regular part of every student's routine.

Petty burglars apprehended

Lindenhurst—Waukegan police apprehended two suspects wanted by Lindenhurst police for two March 17 burglaries at a strip mall located at 616 N. Bridgeport Terr. in Lindenhurst.

Lance A. Mehaffey, 18, of Antioch and Joseph Engmark, 20, also of Antioch both stated that they drove to Rosati's Pizzeria and parked in front of the store. He broke into the cash register with a crowbar taken from his car. Engmark stated that the register was empty, but that he took a foam cup with $17 in dimes from the counter. Mehaffey removed two cases of soda pop.

They then allegedly drove to the other end of the plaza, to Game Escape. Inside, the men found three locked doors, which they kicked in. They rummaged through each room. Mehaffey found a small grey safe which was open. He did not recall anything being in the safe. Unable to locate any cash, the two took a tub of Blow Pops and Ring Pops candy.

As of April 12, the two men were in custody, with bonds totaling $35,000 for Mehaffey and $45,000 for Engmark.

Water supply hit spells thirsty days

Ever since the Central Lake County Joint Action Water Agency was created nearly two decades ago to bring Lake Michigan water to inland communities, available water supply has lost its luster as a hot topic of public debate. Indeed, a plentiful supply of water has contributed immeasurably to the growth of towns like Gurnee, Libertyville, Mundelein, Grayslake and the Round Lake area.

With Lake Michigan now 13 inches below its 1999 level and 21 inches below average, the fall could reach a 140 year low. The Lake Michigan drop coupled with general lack of rainfall has vaulted water supply back into prominence. These two factors plus debate over the enormous appetite for water posed by peaker electrical generating plants is pushing water supply to priority status again.

"I don't know why water is never of concern to us," opined County Board Rep. Suzi Schmidt (R-Lake Villa). Schmidt was speaking in the context of water usage in connection with sewage treatment, but her comment illustrates that water is edging its way back on the political agenda.

Lack of adequate spring rainfall in Illinois, following very dry conditions last summer, could result in serious water supply problems this year, the Illinois State Water Survey warned. There is an ominous sound to observations that the rainfall pattern since last July is similar to early stages of historic droughts like those in 1908, 1917, 1930, 1953 and 1976.

If we are, indeed, in the throes of a drought, an initiative by the Lake County Stormwater Management Commission (SMC) could foretell a possible emergency. SMC has established a network of five rain gauges that will be linked to a web page for instantaneous data. The gauges are located at Diamond Lake, Lake Zurich, Wauconda, Old Mill Creek and Highland Park. There are plans to add up to nine more gauges by 2003.

The EPA already has issued recommendations that officials of communities relying on wells for water supply prepare for possible shortages this summer. Homeowners relying on private wells already have complained of effects of a dropping water table brought on by unbridled development.

As Lake Countians, we have been blessed with an abundance of water. That doesn't mean that we are immune to drought. We're facing prospects of a thirsty summer.

See replacement for municipal tax

When it comes to trail blazing and innovative thinking, Gurnee trustees take a back seat to no one. Do those folks stay up nights thinking about ways to get more bucks into the village coffers?

Their latest gambit is swapping the traditional annual municipal property tax for a local sales tax of a half percent. Flush with retail and non-resident shoppers, preliminary figures show Gurnee coming out way ahead. Presently, property taxes produce a little more than $1.6 million annually. Based on current sales, the half cent more in sales tax would generate approximately $2.5 million. That's a great trade-off, insists Trustee Donald Rudny, the proponent for the new tax that could be imposed easily under Gurnee's home rule status.

As enticing as the new revenue idea looks at first view, it's not expected to be adopted at the next council meeting. For one thing, local retailers aren't expected to be enchanted with the idea of charging more tax than merchants in neighboring communities. More importantly, elected officials, even those at the grassroots level, usually are reluctant to give up any of their taxing power.

Debate over the new tax should provide plenty of fodder for the municipal election now less than a year away.

Gurnee, it should be noted, isn't the first Lake County municipality to explore municipal tax alternatives. Mundelein council members adopted a three-quarter cent local sales tax last October, effective Jan. 1, to replace the municipal real estate tax. With less than six months experience, the yield cannot yet be determined accurately. But you can bet those Mundelein sales tax dollars are being watched closely.

VIEWPOINT

Gridlock offers its shiny side

Take it from Buffalo Grove Police Chief Leo McCann, there's a bright side to gridlock. Or a positive side. Really.

Injecting a bit of humor into the serious topic of solving Lake County transportation problems, Chief McCann had his audience at a traffic seminar at College of Lake County searching for good things when cars go bumper-to-bumper creeping across the county morning and evening.

"How about less serious collisions when cars are moving slower?" the veteran law enforcement officer started out. The audience of 70 got into the spirit, a welcome change after a morning diet of dry statistics and same old, some old observations.

"You can have your breakfast," someone called out. "I can apply my makeup," a distaff member suggested. "I catch up on my reading," a man offered. "You see, gridlock isn't all bad," Chief McCann said with a grin.

McCann debunked the widely held notion that officers delight in writing traffic tickets. Controlling traffic is for public safety, not revenue producing, the police chief declared. With the volume of traffic on Lake County, aggressive enforcement of traffic ordinances is an absolute necessity to protect life and limb, McCann insisted. By the time court time for arresting officers and administrative work is factored in, traffic fine income is in consequential to the typical Lake County community, Chief McCann insisted. "Trust me," he emphasized.

Benefit golf

Two high profile civic organizations will team up this summer to stage a unique joint fund raising golf outing this summer. A first will be recorded when the Lake County Unit of the American Cancer Society and the Lake County Council of the U.S. Navy League gather Aug. 2 at Steeple Chase Golf Course, Mundelein.

The Cancer Society will earmark its share of the proceeds for breast cancer awareness. The Navy League is designating its share for advancing programs like high school ROTC and Sea Cadets. Illinois Lt. Gov. Corinne Wood, a Lake Forest resident, has signed on as honorary chair person.

Soccer THE sport

A drive around the county last Saturday morning, bright and balmy for mid-April, proved conclusively that soccer is king. At least for small fries and their parents. Every community this observer visited was bustling with soccer games. As a former Little League dad, I must admit I have been slow to adjust to soccer-mania. Has to be the action, colorful uniforms and the fact that every boy and girl gets to play. A lot. With grandson John getting tuned up for T-ball and nephew Stephen moving up to the minors, I'll be saving my cheering for the Little Leaguers and remain blissfully baffled at what all the commotion is about over soccer.

Looking for emcee

Members of the Breakfast Exchange Club of Gurnee used two pages, single spaced copy, to list all of the accomplishments and activities of Mayor Dick Welton in their nomination for Gurnee Days Honoree. Welton won hands down, but now there's a problem. Welton has served as master of ceremonies since the inception of Gurnee Days. He can't introduce himself, so now celebration planners are scouting for an emcee.

New train

Fox Lake officials were caught unaware by an announcement that Amtrak intends to operate passenger service between Chicago and Janesville, Wis., on tracks that extend northward from the Metra line that ends at Fox Lake. The line is used regularly by a once-a-day freight train that ambles through central Lake County during the wee hours, but has not been used for passenger service since a decade ago when promoters operated a short-lived dinner excursion train between Fox Lake and Walworth, Wis., during summer months. When the route still was operated by the Milwaukee Road, there was fast train passenger service between Chicago and Madison with stops at Fox Lake and Glenview.

Florida beckons

Two well known Lake Countians are packing their bags and heading for retirement in Florida. A successor is being sought for North Point Marina Harbor Master Charlie Price, major domo at Lake Michigan's largest marina at Winthrop Harbor since its opening. Dir. of Corrections Larry Lesza will be replaced at the county jail by Deputy Dir. Charles DeFlippo. Larry's departure means Sheriff Gary Del Re will be getting a new secretary. Karen Lesza, the director's wife, was the sheriff's secretary. With 26 years of service, Lesza was credited with formulating a host of procedures at the county's model corrections center in Waukegan.

Double duty

Fremont Township Assessor Ed Sullivan Jr., 31, is juggling two jobs these days. Besides keeping up on the burgeoning growth of Mundelein, Ed is in the throes of wedding plans (as much as any prospective bridegroom). Ed is betrothed to a lovely lass named Killeen. They're going to exchange wedding vows next year.

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Schmidt, Westerman seen in leadership roles

County Board Vice Chair Suzi Schmidt is rated a driver's seat position for the number one job in county government when reorganization proceedings take place following the November general election.

Schmidt, a Republican from Lake Villa Township, won a lopsided victory in the GOP primary in March. There is doubt that the former teacher will be contested by a Democrat this fall.

As a virtual shoe-in for a fourth term, Schmidt has been a strong supporter of outgoing County Board Chairman Jim LaBelle (R-Zion), who has brought a new degree of productivity and cooperation to the County Board.

An outspoken environmentalist and open space advocate, Schmidt will be difficult to displace from leadership as county government gets greener than ever.

A boomlet already has begun for second term Rep. Al Westerman (R-Gurnee) for president of the Lake County Forest Preserve District, another coveted high profile office to be filled when the board reorganizes.

Before elected to office in his first try in 1996, Westerman spent 20 years working for the Forest Preserve District. He has been a strong voice for conservation and preservation in his duties as a forest commissioner. Westerman has held true to his position favoring controlled growth and curbing the runaway development resulting in crowded classrooms and clogged highways.

Westerman: Has held true to growth position

O'Kelley: At odds with fellow environmentalists

Not interested

While schools across the nation have expressed interest in the North Chicago Unit schools student uniform policy, neighboring schools in Lake County are shunning the subject. Supt. Patricia Pickles has achieved national acclaim for dress program designed to enhance discipline, curb gang influence and promote self confidence.

Family break-up

Strains of an old song about the "Gang breaking up" are wafting through the County Building with County Board Rep. Diana O'Kelley (R-Fremont Township) at odds with fellow environmentalists over Forest Preserve policy. An angry O'Kelley was engaged in a verbal joust with Reps. Carol Calabrese (R-Libertyville) and Martha Marks (R-Riverwoods).

Price check?

No school district enjoys TIFs, as evidenced in the April 17 meeting of the Grayslake Elementary District 46 Board of Education.

Still trying to decide how to pay for school supplies and looking to an impending deficit in the budget, board member Maureen Engelhardt suggested, "I think we should get something with Wal-Mart since they're taking money from us."

She was referring to the developer of Mallard Creek shopping center where the Wal-Mart is located. There are at least six years left on the TIF, providing it is not extended.

Next on Springer . . .

"Hair-pulling, mud-wrestling township officials!" We nominate Lake Villa Township Supervisor Sue Hansen and Township Assessor Kathleen Kane, based on the embarrassing display of spleen that accompanies every public encounter between the two.

Four birdie 2s on a par-3 hole

I bring glad tidings from the golf course, reporting a feat by four average (well, maybe a little better than average) players that a foursome of Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Tiger Woods and David Duval would have difficulty duplicating.

It happened on the 17th hole at Spring Valley Country Club near Antioch. The players were yours truly and three other fine gentlemen: Carl, Tom and Phil.

On the 170-yard par-three hole we all—surprise, surprise—landed our tee shots on the green in a cluster between 20 and 25 feet from the flag.

I had the 25-foot putt and stroked it a trifle too hard. The ball went downhill faster than a frog on roller skates but, luckily, hit the back center of the cup and plopped in for a birdie two.

"Aha," thought I, "the other guys will two-putt and I'll get a 'skin' (a one-hole victory worth at least 75 cents)."

Then Carl finessed his 24-foot putt with perfect aim and speed, and his ball dived into the hole as if it was Punxsutawney Phil on Groundhog Day. Another birdie two.

Now it was Tom's turn, a 22-foot putt. Sometimes golf balls are afraid of the dark and do mischievous things to avoid tumbling into that little excavation. But this time, as the ball sped toward the hole and Tom ordered it to "go in," the dimpled orb obeyed.

Three birdies. But wait, Phil is lining up his 20-footer. Here it comes: rolling, rolling, rolling, ker-plunk!

Wow, four twos on a par-three, with sizable, curving, not easy putts. In a lifetime on the links I've never seen the like. A historical marker should be planted by that 17th green.

Later, in the clubhouse, I repeat-

THE PFARR CORNER

Jerry Pfarr

ed that our feat probably couldn't be matched even by a foursome of such great players as Nicklaus, Palmer, Woods and Duval.

Another member of our golf gang, Mickey, pondered our scorecard and put it all in perspective: "I'll tell you something else those four pros wouldn't have duplicated, all the sixes, sevens and eights on this card."

While talking golf, here are other anecdotes of interest.

Jack Nicklaus' 31-year-old son Gary has made it to the professional tour after a decade of trying. He's the spittin' image of his dad, both in looks and speech.

Recently, he finished second in a tournament and won $300,000. During all those events in which Gary was working his way up, Jack would try to be on the sidelines. "I always had a lot of people following me," says Gary. "They came to watch my dad watch me."

Veteran pro Hal Sutton, 42, recently won $1 million by edging Tiger Woods by a stroke in the Tournament Players Championship. His fellow pros joke that Sutton needs the money because he is now married to his fourth wife. His nickname on the tour is "Halimony."

One of the young golfers thrilled to be invited to play in the Masters tournament in Georgia was the current British Amateur champion, Graeme Storm.

He scored a Masters first, bringing along his mother, Jane, to caddy for him.

We build highways—to crumble

It's always around this time of the year when I get my dander up over what's happening on our roads. Oh, I guess that I should be happy that so much road construction is going on. No, I'm not, never have been, and I'll tell you why.

Call me a "fuddy-duddy," or whatever, but I've often complained, and sometimes in this column, that they just don't build things "like they used to." That is one thing when we are talking about cheap products that "are made to break down." It's quite another thing when you are talking about something very costly, like repairing our highways. On top of it, we are talking about taxpayer monies.

You can't go anywhere these days without seeing those orange "highway under construction" signs. We are supposed to jump with joy. Roads are being repaired and that's supposed to be good. But, when you start to think that many of these improvement projects are on highways that were "improved" just a short while ago, you start to wonder what's going on.

Yes, I've written here before that some of us criticized long ago the Illinois Department of Transportation about the way they re-surface our highways, but we got nowhere. They gave us the "garbage" that we live in the "freeze zone" where the spring thaws eat up our roads. Funny, I used to tell them, that the highways held up much better in winters way back. Something's wrong.

I didn't buy their arguments then, and I don't buy them now. Many years ago, I was watching a state highway repair job, and I told

SEEING IT THROUGH

the engineers that the "improvement" was a "step backwards." The "old highway" was probably almost three feet thick of concrete. They were tearing it up. The "new" highway was "thin" layers of concrete and asphalt.

As I recall, this was about the same time that the gentlemen who headed IDOT went national and became a leader in the national asphalt association. The group lobbied Congress to use asphalt on road projects. Across the country, asphalt has become the "product of choice" for road improvement work.

I don't have anything against asphalt, and I can understand that for local road improvement, it is probably prudent to use the substance. But, when we are talking about major state highways that carry high-volume traffic, I believe that we should not build highways "to tear them down."

Is there a reason why we build highways to crumble? It may be fashionable to blame everything on politics, but when you check who the big contributors are around election time, you'll find the names of some of the large road builders. Some of the appointed bureaucrats, too, are to blame for favoring the contractors who bid for state work.

We should not forget, too, that union leaders who represent workers on such projects, use their influence to lobby for more road work. If anyone should know that much of the road product being used to repair highways is substandard. It is those who work on the projects. But, the total focus of some of the union leaders is "the more road projects, the more jobs," whether the improvements are high-quality or not.

It is too much to ask that Illinois build and repair major roads like they do in Europe? Build them to last. Anyone will tell you that the greater cost in highway construction is manpower. If you spend more now for thicker three foot thick concrete bases and the highway may last 30 years, as they should, look how much you will save "down the road," if you pardon the expression.

Lately, I read that IDOT, after a recent expose about the quick crumbling of road repairs, is calling on contractors to be penalized if their work doesn't meet certain standards. The problem also rests with the agency. Contractors bid according to specifications set by the department. We will never have high-quality road improvement as long as IDOT allows thin layers of road mix to be used, more fitting for bicycle or foot traffic, rather than motor vehicles.

The bureaucrats will tell you that we can't afford to do it right. I say that we cannot afford to do it anything but right, and, in the long term, we will be saving tons of money. Of course, that's not on anyone's agenda. They are more interested in making money, than saving money.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Bias for University Station

During the past year, many of you have heard or read about the new Multi-University Center planned for Lake County.

University Station is an exciting, alternative future for Lake County. Our vision of this New Urbanism boasts a 24-hour livable community, where you can walk to the library or the coffee shop. Entertainment and recreation venues will share sidewalks with hotels and an art gallery. A top-notch fitness and wellness center will co-exist with an upbeat selection of retailers and restaurants. Attractive residences and offices will be a short stroll from public meeting spaces for community clubs, congregations, and civic events. A day-care center and a seniors' center with assisted living will be down a tree-lined block from technology stores, bookstores and a food market. A friendly police substation and municipal/county facilities also will be within the community.

What will hold this vital, thriving community together? Accessible higher education is the answer. Countywide support shows that University Station's location near such major arteries as I-94, Rtes. 41, 43, 120 and 137, makes it ideal for quick, efficient travel from workplace or home, even during rush hours. Amtrak's Chicago-Milwaukee line runs next to University Station, and we are working to attract a Metra commuter line station. Employers who want their people to continue their education and professional development know that "getting there" won't be a "nightmare."

We are addressing the IBHE's concerns about the feasibility of our project. Lining up investors and lenders for a total project cost estimated at $800 million takes time and hard work. This enormous investment includes not only the mall itself, but also areas surrounding the mall. On March 16, we informed the IBHE that our plans for University Station have evolved over the past year. Nineteen fully accredited private colleges and universities (not participants in the Multi-University) have expressed a high level of interest in offering comprehensive programs at University Station, including undergraduate and graduate degrees.

Martin Tuohy & Associates feels that reinvigorating Lakehurst as University Station is preferable to building from scratch on virgin land, by recycling an already built-up area in a prime business corridor, we will create a dynamic, high-quality-of-life community, which won't impact our natural resources.

Arthur Anderson's economic impact analysis states that University Station will have approximately 9,000 permanent employees 5,000 of whom will be highly skilled, earning $177 million annually, and that University Station will have a direct annual on-site operational impact of $514 million.

Thank you for your overwhelming support for University Station, the Common Sense location.

10 technology myths—some E-commerce fiction, facts

Last of three parts

In the first two parts of this series, we've debunked six myths that exist regarding the Internet and E-commerce in general. This week in the final part of this series we'll uncover some other common, but fictitious thoughts on technology.

Four more myths

Myth Number Seven: Build it and they will come. Even though there is tremendous interest in—and lots of media attention being paid to—all aspects of E-commerce today, it's not quite as easy as just throwing up a web site. Having a retail store doesn't guarantee customers and having a web site doesn't guarantee instant commerce. You must consider several other factors.

If you built it and they aren't coming, ask these questions: How easy is your site to find? Are you well positioned on search engines? How much cross promotion do you do? Are you telling everyone about your site on your business cards, letterhead, invoices, advertising, packaging, etc.? Web sites are easy to build. However, to be successful you must give people good reasons to visit your site. It starts with awareness, builds to desire and results in action when you do it right.

Myth Number Eight: Internet companies don't have to be profitable. This may be the most common myth on Wall Street. I'm certain I'm in the minority with this opinion, but I don't plan to own any E-commerce stock in the short-term future. I see much of this hoopla as a financial bubble. A big, fragile bubble. While I take calculated risks every day, I'm not a serious gambler.

You can gamble if you choose. I hope you win big. It's OK by me if people win a big lottery prize every day, but I personally don't buy lottery tickets. I work too hard for my money and the odds of winning are published. I'm not a fool.

I believe that the future of our economy is still based on businesses that generate profits, not Wall Street speculation. Internet companies must figure out how to be profitable if they are to stay in business.

In the early 1900's, more than 500 automobile manufacturing companies were capitalized by return-hungry investors. Most failed within a few years. How many can you count today?

Myth Number Nine: I can get a great web site free. Fact: You can get a free web site. And, it will likely be worth every penny you paid.

Myth Number Ten: You can fool the search engines with slick tricks. A famous technology guru once said, "You can fool some of the search engines all of the time and all of the search engines some of the time, but..."

Fact: Content rich text is the best way to get what you want from search engines—site visits or hits. There are too many strategies to increase your success with search engines to list here. Do a little surfing or visit with an expert if you want to increase your effectiveness.

Myth Number Eleven: Once you get a great web site developed,

CDW one of fastest climbers on Fortune 1000

In FORTUNE magazine's annual financial ranking of American business giants, CDW Computer Centers Inc. climbed 186 positions to No. 560. With one of the largest gains on the list, the business-to-business direct solutions provider of brand name computer products attributes its success to customer-centric business practices, as well as strong demand for technology and related services.

The annual FORTUNE 1000 ranking, featured in the upcoming April 17 issue, ranks publicly traded U.S. companies based on revenue, profits, market value, number of employees and return to investors.

Since its debut on the 1997 list, CDW has moved up 308 positions. The company achieved $2.56 billion net sales in 1999, up 48 percent from 1998, and has averaged a 45 percent sales growth rate and 55 percent earnings growth rate over the past five years.

CDW's designated industry category was the No. 1 for both revenues per dollar of assets and revenues per dollar of equity. FORTUNE attributes this category's No. 1 position in part to the strong demand for computer products. Of the companies in this category, CDW ranked No. 1 for profits as a percentage of assets, in the top 10 for total return to investors and earnings per share and No. 12 in profits.

No small strides for a company that was founded as a home-based business little more than 15 years ago. Now with more than 2,100 coworkers, Michael Krasny, founder and CEO attributes the company's success to the continued focus on customers. "Small- to medium-size businesses rely on us for their technology needs," said Krasny. "We have maintained our focus on what sets us apart, continually enhancing our business model with the business customer in mind."

Every program the company institutes is with the customer in mind, from the company's e-business strategy that has developed CDW@work, an Internet interface with customers through customized extranet sites to the extensive three to six month training for its entire sales force.

Implementing this philosophy does always follow traditional practice. CDW maintains that coworkers are the most important factor in its formula for success. "I have always believed that taking care of coworkers is a top priority," says Krasny. "If coworkers are happy, they will give excellent customer service. If customers are happy, then sales will follow and all the rest will fall into place."

This unique corporate culture has led to the company's recognition as one of the "100 Best Companies to Work for in America" for two consecutive years on the list published in FORTUNE magazine.

The annual FORTUNE 1000 list, ranks publicly traded U.S. companies based on revenue, profits, market value, number of employees and return to investors.

Applications accepted for catalog

Illinois First Lady Lura Lynn Ryan today announced applications are available for the new Made in Illinois catalog, which features Illinois artisans and their work.

"An appreciation of the arts contributes heavily to our state's outstanding quality of life," said Mrs. Ryan. "This catalog will showcase splendid works from Illinois craftsmen while displaying some of the state's tourism treasures." Mrs. Ryan first started the popular Made in Illinois program nearly 10 years ago. The publication, to be published this year, will be divided into tourism regions, tying together the artist, their studios or galleries, and regional tourism attractions.

The planned catalog will feature narratives and photos of the artists, their work and tourism attractions in their local areas. Catalogs will be available free of charge through the state's tourism hotline, the State of Illinois Website, convention and visitor bureaus, and at Illinois Artisan Shops in Chicago, Springfield, Lewistown, and Rend Lake. The catalog will instruct buyers to contact the artists directly.

Artists wanting further information about Made in Illinois should call (217) 785-7823.

Chamber leaders chosen

The Lake County Chamber of Commerce has a new set of leaders as of April 12.

Matthew A. Nordigian, president of Norstan, Inc., is the new chairman of the Chamber's Board of Directors. He succeeds William M. Reidel, president of Consumers Cooperative Credit Union.

Nordigian was installed in office—along with three other officers and six other Chamber directors—at the Chamber's 84th annual dinner meeting.

The other officers are Hal Coxon, Customer Management Systems, vice chairman of the Board; Robert C. Lee, American National Bank, secretary of the Board; and Thomas S. Wabik, Goelitz Confectionary Co., treasurer of the Board.

Installed as Chamber directors were Paul B. Finegan, Abbott Laboratories; Pam Harrower, Six Flags Great America; Bernice Bloom, The Cherry Corporation; Peg LaFond, Gurnee Mills; Richard Ribando, The News Sun; Alan B. Fine, First Midwest Bank; and Wabik.

Chamber President Helaine Raskin continues as the Chamber's chief executive.

Lake Zurich economic forum scheduled April 27

The Economic Information Committee and the Commercial Committee of the Lake Zurich Area Chamber of Commerce are jointly sponsoring the Chamber's Third Economic Forum. The Forum will be held on Thursday, April 27, at Concorde Banquets in Kildeer. The event will begin at noon.

The Economic Forum Series was begun in 1999 with an overview of the national economy, with particular emphasis on the Midwest, Northern Illinois and the Chicago metropolitan area. The second Forum dealt with the economic opportunities and challenges facing Lake County.

This Forum will concentrate on the Economic Profile of Lake Zurich Area, its population, income, households, housing and labor markets. The communities of Deer Park, Hawthorn Woods, Kildeer, Lake Zurich, Long Grove and North Barrington are included in this Profile.

Speakers will include James J. Grund, Executive Vice President, The Fidelity Group; Jeffry B. Sharp, Regional Operations Manager, Hydrite Chemical Corp.; Vijay S. Gadde, Village Planner, Village of Lake Zurich; Margi Steiner, Downtown Revitalization Partnership, Inc.; Dr. Sharon V. Kramer, Community Unit School District 95; Brian L. Harger, Center for Governmental Studies, Northern Illinois University; and Lisa Holbrook, Business Reference Specialist, Elia Area Public Library.

After the formal presentation, the audience will be asked for their thoughts on what additional information should be included in future editions of the Economic Profile.

The Lake Zurich Area Economic Profile is produced by the Elia Area Public Library. The Economic Profile is a joint venture of the Elia Area Public Library, the Village of Lake Zurich, Community Unit School District 95 and the Lake Zurich Area Chamber of Commerce.

The Economic Forum is a luncheon meeting. Luncheon tickets are $30 each, of which $5 is earmarked to fund additional data collection efforts. Non-member tickets are $40.

For reservations, call the Chamber office at 438-5572, fax to 847-438-5574 or e-mail to sam@lza-cc.com.

BUSINESS DIGEST

Looking for day care providers

Bright Beginning's Family Day Care Network is looking for nurturing, responsible, creative individuals who would like to start their own business while staying at home with their children. If you live in Lake or McHenry County and would like assistance in getting licensed, ongoing technical assistance, and child referrals this program is for you. For more information on how to become a quality infant and toddler day care provider in your home, call Dena Thompson at 356-1021.

Bank offers program to businesses

State Bank of The Lakes is now offering a Capital Access Program (CAP) to for-profit businesses in Illinois with 500 employees or less. This loan program is based on a unique portfolio insurance concept where the borrower and the Illinois Department of Community Affairs (DCCA) each contribute a percentage of the total loan amount into a reserve fund to cover losses. CAP is designed to encourage lending institutions to make loans to small and new businesses that do not qualify under conventional lending policies.

The major advantage of the CAP is that it provides the borrower with access to financing that otherwise would not be available. Lines of Credit are eligible and there are no minimum or maximum loan amounts under the program. Loans can be short-term or long-term, have fixed or variable rates, be secured or unsecured and bear any type of amortization schedule.

This loan program is unique in that State Bank controls all of the underwriting, approval, documentation and service processes. CAP has proven to be an excellent source of capital for a start-up business, or a business with expansion plans.

State Bank of The Lakes encourages anyone interested in the Capital Access Program to contact a Commercial Lending Officer at any of their locations.

Survival highlights next BAPW meeting

Barrington neighbor Elsa Walter, whose family escaped from a communist concentration camp, will tell her story at the next meeting of Barrington Area Professional Women on May 4.

Walter's book Barefoot in the Rubble details her family's ordeal in what has come to be known as the "unknown holocaust", the destruction of ethnic German communities in the years after World War II.

The dinner meeting begins with a social hour at 6:15 at Barrington Country Bistro in the Foundry Shopping Center, Northwest Highway at Hart Road in Barrington. The cost is $27.50 for members and $32.50 for non-members and guests.

BAPW is open to all women who live and/or work in Barrington and surrounding communities. For information and reservations, call Peggy Curran at 381-1860.

Spring municipal equipment auction set

ON THE MOVE

Chris Wainscott has been named Senior Vice-President, Sales and Marketing of Outboard Marine Corporation's North American Engine Operations by Bob Gowens, President of OMC/NAEO. Formerly Vice President, Saltwater Markets of NAEO, Wainscott is a nine-year veteran of OMC. As President of the Company's Hydra-Sports saltwater fishing boat division, he orchestrated the relocation of its headquarters from Murfreesboro, Tennessee, to Columbia, South Carolina. He was instrumental in helping refocus the Hydra-Sports product line exclusively on premium quality saltwater fishing boats.

Target Group Inc., a Chicago-based management consulting firm, has promoted Jeanne Ang in its economic opportunities group, which provides services to some of the city's major development projects. Ang, 34, of Round Lake Beach received a promotion from project manager to senior project manager. Ang manages comprehensive economic opportunity programs for the new Cook County Hospital, the University of Chicago, the University of Illinois at Chicago's South Campus Development Project and the City of Chicago's Empowerment Zones. Her background includes extensive strategic planning work, leadership training facilitation, and experience in the fields of healthcare and education.

Century 21 Leech & Associates, Lindenhurst, has announced the office sales leaders for the month of March. Dawn Hagy was the top sales agent for the month and Sue Ryglowski was the leading listing agent. Jena Krajca was awarded the professionalism in real estate designation for the month of March.

Outboard Marine Corporation recently appointed Roger Crawford as Vice President Environmental Health and Safety. He will report to Bob Ramano, Vice President, General Counsel and Secretary OMC.

Nearly 20 years of service to OMC and a powerful track record in guiding OMC's health, safety and environmental programs were cited as primary reasons for the promotion. Crawford has been instrumental in environmental rule making activities at local, state and federal levels during the tenure.

Deerpath Medical Associates

(DMA) is has announced that Vandana Jain, M.D. has joined the staff at their new Lindenhurst office in the practice of adult internal medicine helping to meet the increasing demand for primary care physicians in Lake County. Dr. Jain attended John Carroll University receiving a Bachelor of Science degree and earned her Medical Doctor's degree from the Medical College of Ohio. She completed her internship and residency in Internal Medicine at Northwestern Memorial Hospital in Chicago and is board certified in Internal Medicine.

Grayslake resident Brenda

Bersani exceeded the $2 million mark in 2000 sales production in February, reported Tom Kreuser, Co-owner of Century 21 Kresuer and Seiler in Libertyville.

Bersani

Bersani, a licensed Broker, is serving as the 2000 Chairman of the Lake County Association of Realtors' (LCAR) Brokerage Committee as well as serving on the LCAR's Fair Housing and Grievance Committees. Brenda was the LCAR Realtor Associate of the Year in 1997. She has received numerous real estate accolades including the 1999 Century 21 prestigious Centurion Award.

Brenda and her husband, Joe, and family live in Grayslake.

Doreen Herman, Debbie Paoli, Mary Tokarz, Louise Cerbus, Gina Collins, Andy Herrmann, David Seiler and Paul Baker topped the $1 million mark in 2000 sales production during the month of February, reported M.J. Seiler, Co-owner of the Libertyville based firm of Century 21 Kreuser and Seiler.

All are experienced agents who specialize in helping people buy and sell homes throughout Lake County.

Outstanding sales performance and business growth for 1999 were the reasons why Bruce Zimmermann, owner of The Maids, was selected from more than 170 franchise owners internationally to receive the President's Club award.

This prestigious award was presented at The Maids Annual Meeting in Orlando, Florida, March 3-5.

Zimmermann's business serves residents of Gurnee, Waukegan, Libertyville, Grayslake, Vernon Hills, Round Lake and Mundelein.

"The Maids are known as the foremost maid service in the area because of our quality and professionalism," says Zimmermann.

'Oh, my achin' back': Top 10 professions most at risk to low back pain problems

What do truck drivers and heavy equipment mechanics have in common with doctors, dentists and nurses?

If you answered that they all have to work with some pretty tough customers, you may be only partially right. At least one other thing they have in common is... low back pain.

According to the American Journal of Public Health, truck driving tops the list of the ten jobs with the highest prevalence of low back pain due to an injury at work. Following close behind are 2.) construction equipment and heavy machinery operators; 3.) construction workers; 4.) janitorial and building maintenance workers; 5.) firefighters; 6.) police officers; 7.) heavy equipment mechanics; 8.) health care therapists; 9.) physicians, dentists and nurses; and 10.) people involved in agriculture, forestry and commercial fishing.

However, you don't have to be a truck driver to experience low back pain. It can affect anybody, at any age, in any profession, from those who spend most of their day working in an office setting to professional golfers, such as Jason Zuback, the 29-year-old Canadian who is the four-time World Long Drive Champion (see Golfweek, Oct. 30, 1999). In fact, low back pain is the most common work-related medical problem in the United States and the second most common reason for doctor visits among U.S. citizens, according to the National Center for Health Statistics. It affects more than 20 million Americans and is the leading cause of disability among people ages 19-45. It hits the bottom line fairly hard, too: low back is the No. 1 leading cause of missed work days, costing Americans $60 billion per year in treatments and American businesses about $15 billion annually. It's estimated that at least 80 percent of all Americans will experience some form of low back pain at some point in their lives.

Many Causes of Lower Back Pain

A healthy spine protects the spinal cord and supports the body while allowing it to move freely. The vertebrae and the discs between them are aligned in three natural curves that are normally kept in balance by the muscles surrounding the spine. But because of various factors, including injury, the natural aging process or premature degeneration, certain spinal problems can cause the discs or vertebrae to impinge upon the spinal cord and its nerve roots, producing symptoms such as pain, stiffness, tingling and numbness. Two common types of physiological problems leading to low back pain are muscle and joint problems. Muscle-related low back pain comes in either spasms or strains that, while easily treatable, can also be symptoms of joint problems such as disc degeneration, disc herniation or spinal stenosis.

"The typical backache lasts two to three days and 80 percent of lower back pain cases clear up in two weeks," notes Dr. John Sherman, M.D., a Minneapolis-based orthopaedic surgeon. "Most cases can easily be managed with an over-the-counter, non-prescription pain reliever or anti-inflammatory (e.g., Tylenol, Aleve, Motrin or Advil) and a short term decline in activities."

"The type of cases that concern me and other orthopaedic surgeons," Dr. Sherman adds, "are those that last longer than six weeks, are generating a great deal of pain and truly interrupt day-to-day function."

Hope for Chronic Back Sufferers

Sometimes, low back injury can occur as a result of something as simple as a little fall or an innocent twist. Even such minor causes can lead to devastating results. But now there is hope for some back pain sufferers through a new, non-surgical treatment that's gaining favor even among skeptical orthopaedic surgeons.

Consider the case of Walter Cobb, 57, a truck driver who used to criss-cross the country for weeks at a time in an 18-wheeler for J & C Trucking, Forest Lake, Minn. Years of chronic low back pain and three back surgeries later, Cobb doesn't cruise the nation's highways any more—doctor's orders. In January 1997, Cobb fell and injured his back again, which placed him the uncomfortable position of a fourth back surgery. However, before going under the knife, his doctor prescribed the Orthotrac, a new, non-invasive (non-surgical) back pain treatment. Ever since then, Cobb has kept on truckin'. Cobb credits the vest, which he wears several times daily, for allowing him to continue his 35-year career as a truck driver. Today, with the aid of his Orthotrac, Cobb hauls automobile parts for Ford Motor Company's St. Paul Division with Rush Trucking, a St. Paul, Minn.-based trucking firm.

"I have a love for the road," says Cobb, "as does my wife, Patricia, who also is a truck driver. The Orthotrac lets me stay close to the trucks and to the road."

Most orthopaedic surgeons will acknowledge that there are many ways to treat chronic lower back pain, ranging from traditional options such as epidural steroid injections, physical and traction therapy and surgery to non-traditional alternatives such as acupuncture or chiropractic adjustments.

Condell names director for open heart program

Cardiovascular surgeon Philip Faraci, MD, has been named Medical Director of the new Condell Heart Center.

Faraci, who brings three decades of surgical experience to Condell Medical Center and has started successful open heart surgery programs at five hospitals, will lead Condell's open heart program.

"He's a very impressive guy," said Dr. Joel Okner, director of Condell's Cardiac Catheterization Laboratory. "He's perfect for this hospital. He's got great credentials, he's a gentleman, an outstanding surgeon and takes great care of his patients."

Faraci comes from a medical family. His father was a general practitioner in Boston, his mother a nurse. "There wasn't anything else I ever considered doing," he says. "It was a family legacy. When I was young I gained an understanding of what it was to be a doctor. My dad saw patients day and night. He made house calls regularly and I'd go with him."

His group, Cardiothoracic & Vascular Surgical Associates, does approximately 2,000 open heart operations a year. He expects to do 200-250 adult procedures the first year at Condell, growing to as many as 500-700 in a few years.

Faraci and his surgical associates will be assisted by a team of Condell nurses, technicians, anesthesiologists and a perfusionist, the professional who operates the heart-lung machine.

When he's not putting in his average 10-12 hour days in surgery, Faraci and his wife, Pamela Leiter, live in Highland Park, where they moved about three years ago. The lure of Lake Michigan and the nearby Ravinia Festival Park helped nourish their love of sail-boat racing and classical music.

Helping a child's fears about going to the dentist

Hi Dr. Singer,

My child has a huge fear of going to the dentist and he has to go soon. I know people get scared of going to the dentist, but this is almost like a phobic thing and I wondered how much fear is normal. Also, do you have any suggestions to help him calm down? V.B.

Hi V.B.,

How funny that you should ask me this now! I am also scheduled for my very first root canal and I can honestly say that my fear is probably bordering on phobic as well. You know what...going to the dentist is phobic for lots and lots of people. At best it is an uncomfort-

PARENT'S PLACE

able experience and at worst, can be painful.

Now, of course this depends on the dentist you use and your trust level of that person. One bad experience can leave a lasting impression and it can take a lot of better experiences to have the bad one be forgotten.

For example, when I was about 8-years-old, I went to see a dentist who I swear had to have been a torture specialist. He drilled five deep cavities (which we suspect now were never really cavities) without Novocain. You see, he didn't believe in allowing the use of any pain killer. He also didn't allow parents in the office and basically almost threatened kids not to tell of their experiences. He was a real experience. In fact, the experience was so horrible that I thought it must have been embellished in my own mind because how could anyone actually do those things to a child?

Well, low and behold, recently I had a woman come to me as a client and somehow we got to talking about dentists and she mentioned having gone through the same thing with the same dentist which made me know that it was all real. Somehow, I believe that this experience gave me my dentist phobia. What do you think? I choose this story to illustrate to you how these fears can come about.

Now, your child may have never had that horrible of an experience in his or her life (I hope not,) but even a lesser experience can set off those pathways in the brain that really fight against going to the dentist. This is why many times cavities become root canals.

Anyway, what to do! I have some suggestions for you to do with your child. These work for me and hopefully will work for him too.

1) Make sure your dentist is gentle and is good at "babying" people. My dentist goes very slow and makes sure to check with me that I'm OK. He also holds my hand if I need it. These things make me feel better and will usually help anyone. Make sure your dentist also has a good reputation for his or her work.

2) Try to give your child something else to focus on. Either through visual imagery or use what I'm using during my root canal. I am bringing a CD player with some really good funk music on it. Anything to change the focus will relax the mind.

3) Try to have something exciting happening after the appointment. Something to look forward to. Last time I got a cavity drilled, I promised myself a day shopping. Throughout the filling, I thought about what I was going to get afterwards. This is amazingly effective. It's really funny too, because that never goes out of the mom. Last time I had to go to the doctor for something scary, which was a year ago last January, I got out in the car after the appointment and my mom, who was there to help me get home after sedatives, pulled three new "Beanie Babies" out of a bag and gave them to me as my reward for making it through while being brave!

4) Understand the anxiety and let your child talk with you about it without shutting him or her down. Too often, people want to tell the anxious person that their anxiety is silly or too much or out of place. A person who is anxious about anything needs to be able to vent that anxiety and hear from the other person that it's understandable that they are feeling anxious and that it is only anxiety and it will not hurt them and they will be fine. That is what the person needs to hear.

5) If your child's fears are from a bad experience like the one I described, remind him or her that not all dentists are like that dentist and that he or she will not experience that kind of pain again. Remind the child that he or she can be in control of letting the dentist know if more Novocain is needed or if he or she is feeling anything. While going to the dentist is never going to be one of the ways people enjoy themselves, the fear and pain can be minimized by taking these steps.

Discovering the joy, beauty offered by trees

Trees come in all shapes and sizes—so many that it can be almost impossible to tell them apart. How do you know if you're admiring a red maple or an amur maple, a Colorado blue or an Engelmann spruce?

"Helping people enjoy and appreciate trees is very important," says The National Arbor Day Foundation President John Rosenow. "Being able to identify trees is important to knowing how to care for them and how to plant the right tree in the right place."

The Foundation was founded in 1972 as a nonprofit education organization dedicated to tree planting and environmental stewardship. The Foundation is committed to advancing tree planting through the celebration of Arbor Day. National Arbor Day is the last Friday in April, falling this year on April 28, although some states celebrate the tree planting holiday on dates best suited to their own climate.

As we prepare to celebrate the first Arbor Day of the new millennium, The National Arbor Day Foundation suggests these simple guidelines for planting your trees:

Planting a Containerized Tree

If a tree is planted correctly, it will grow twice as fast and live at least twice as long as one that is planted incorrectly. Ideally, dig or rototill an area one foot deep and approximately five times the diameter of the root ball. The prepared soil will encourage root growth beyond the root ball and results in a healthier tree.

In transplanting, be sure to keep soil around the roots. Always handle your tree by the ball, not by the trunk or branches. Don't let the root ball dry out. Help prevent root girdling by vertically cutting any roots that show tendencies to circle the root ball. After placing the tree, pack soil firmly but not tightly around the root ball. Water the soil and place a protective 3-foot circle of mulch around the tree.

Planting a Bare-root Tree

It is best to plant bare-root trees immediately, in order to keep the fragile roots from drying out. If you can't plant because of weather or soil conditions, store the trees in a cool place and keep the roots moist.

Unpack tree and soak in water 6-12 hours. Do not plant with packing materials attached to roots, and do not allow roots to dry out. Dig a hole, wider than seems necessary, so the roots can spread without crowding. Remove any grass within a 3-foot circular area. To aid root growth, turn soil in an area up to three feet in diameter.

Plant the tree at the same depth it stood in the nursery, without crowding the roots. Partially fill the hole, firming the soil around the lower roots. Do not add extra soil amenities.

Shovel in the remaining soil. It should be firmly, but not tightly, packed with your heel. Construct a water-holding basin around the tree. Give the tree plenty of water. After the water has soaked in, place a 2-inch deep protective mulch area three feet in diameter around the base of the tree (but not touching the trunk). Water the tree generously every week or 10 days during the first year.

African Violet Show and sale at Chicago Botanic Garden

The Lake Shore African Violet Society will hold a show and sale at the Chicago Botanic Garden on April 29-30. This show will be open to the public from 12-5 p.m., Saturday, April 29 and 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. Sunday, April 30. This event is open to the public without charge, however there is a $7 parking fee for non-members of the garden.

The theme of the show, "Violets Tour the World" will be reflected in displays of specimen plants grown by some of the premiere African violet fanciers in the Chicago area. There will be artist designs in various categories representing different countries.

Expert growers will be present to answer questions and to give demonstrations related to the care and cultivation of America's most popular house plant. There will be plants and leaves for sale as well as supplies such as potting soil, fertilizer and pots.

The Lake Shore African Violet Society is affiliated with the African Violet Society of America and the Illinois African Violet Society. The club meets on the third Tuesday of each month (except August) at the Chicago Botanic Garden, and its members welcome interested growers to attend their meetings. For further information, telephone Heloise Nathan at 729-8689.

soil, retains moisture, keeps out weeds, prevents soil compaction, reduces lawnmower damage, and adds an aesthetic touch to a yard or street. Remove any grass within the mulch area, an area from 3-10 feet in diameter, depending on tree size. Pour wood chips or bark pieces 2-4 inches within the circle, but not touching the trunk.

Arbor Day was the idea of J. Sterling Morton, who initiated the first celebration on April 10, 1872. Morton migrated to Nebraska in 1854 and became editor of the Nebraska Territory's first newspaper. He soon came to national prominence as a political and agricultural leader, serving as acting territorial governor from 1858 to 1859 and as Grover Cleveland's secretary of agriculture from 1893 to 1897. Throughout his life, he also maintained his Nebraska City roots, leading innovative efforts at agriculture and arboriculture. His Nebraska City home, Arbor Lodge, is now a state historical park.

Morton's vision was a simple one—to encourage people to make their homes and nation better and healthier by planting trees. Morton said, "Each generation takes the earth as trustees. We ought to bequeath to posterity as many forests and orchards as we have exhausted and consumed."

To help in choosing the trees that are right for your region, The National Arbor Day Foundation has put together What Tree Is That, a popular tree identification guide that is fun and easy to use. This handy booklet comes in two editions, one for trees commonly found in the Eastern and Central United States, and the other for Western states, or those from the Rocky Mountains to the West Coast. Each is available for $3.00 post-paid.

These comprehensive, pocket-size guides help you identify trees based on their leaves, flowers, fruit, and twig characteristics, among other things. Information is cross-referenced and clearly illustrated to make it even handier, and the booklet also contains information on hardiness zones across the United States and a glossary of common tree terms. Tree-loving travelers often buy both Eastern and Western editions.

These are also great for parents driving across country with school age children. Have the kids identify and report on all of the new trees they see. It's a fun and educational way to make traveling more enjoyable. Reward them for the most new trees identified, the most unusual, etc. You'll keep peace in the back seat and maybe learn something yourself.

To order, send your check or money order to The National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, NE 68410, and be sure to specify which edition you're requesting. You can also join the Foundation and receive 10 free trees as part of your membership benefits by sending a $10 contribution to Ten Free Trees, c/o The National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, NE 68410. These little trees, each 6-12 inches long, are selected for your region and are guaranteed to grow, or they'll be replaced free of charge.

You can learn more about The National Arbor Day Foundation by visiting its Web site, www.arborday.org.

Tips on how to grow great-tasting tomatoes

Once you have experienced the mouthwatering flavor of home-grown tomatoes, it's easy to understand why they are so immensely popular. To learn more about tomatoes, including Burpee's Fourth of July, the earliest variety available, visit the Web site at www.burpee.com.

There is nothing better than a tomato that has been allowed to fully ripen on the plant. In fact, tomatoes are the No. 1 home garden vegetable. Growing a great one, however, takes some skill. Whether you're growing the smallest cherry varieties or a 2-pound-plus giant, with a little know-how, you can harvest rich, delicious tomatoes of every description from early summer to first frost.

For 124 years, breeders at W. Atlee Burpee & Co. have introduced hundreds of tomatoes for different uses and tastes. Here are some tips from Burpee that will help you get a great start on an excellent crop this year.

- What types to choose — There's no need to limit the number of tomato types you choose when planning a home garden. There are the early varieties, which are vigorous growers that yield fruit much sooner than others. In terms of size, tomatoes can range from the cherry tomatoes, ideal for salads and snacking, to the giants, with old-fashioned beefsteak flavor. The great-producing varieties can promise heavy yields of large fruits. Saladette tomatoes are great in salads and sauces, while paste tomatoes are best for cooking. Winter-storage varieties last longer off the vine without refrigeration. With planning, you can enjoy home-grown tomatoes all season long.

- When to sow and transplant — You can sow tomato seeds directly in your garden after the final frost, however, to get an early start and a season-long harvest, start your seeds indoors six to eight weeks before planting. After they are well rooted, plant them outdoors, spaced 30 inches apart. For lusher plants and healthier fruits, Burpee recommends using a plant food with calcium. Calcium helps maintain the flow of water through the plant into the fruit so that during rapid growth periods, the tomatoes will have adequate fluids and won't rot.

- How to support — Burpee recommends supporting your plants with stakes, cages or trellises. This not only keeps the tomatoes off the ground, it also improves air circulation so you will have larger, cleaner, more perfect fruits.

- When to harvest — To get the wonderful flavor that only home-grown tomatoes can produce, leave tomatoes on the plant until they ripen to their fullest. Once you pick a tomato, it stops developing flavor.

The longer the tomato is on the plant, the more time it has to develop the natural sugars that make it sweet. Red-fruited varieties are ready when they are a full, deep red. Yellow and orange-fruited tomatoes are ripe when their color is well developed. Winter-storage tomatoes, like the Red October, can keep three to four weeks longer than other varieties.

To learn more about tomato varieties and care, visit Burpee online at www.burpee.com or call (800) 888-1447.

Waukegan Park District receives Certificate of Merit

The Waukegan Park District was awarded a Certificate of Merit from the National Arbor Day Foundation for its efforts on behalf of trees and environmental stewardship. The entry submitted for the National Arbor Day Awards competition highlighted the District's Arbor Day activities for the past ten years.

"We are honored to receive this recognition from the National Arbor Day Foundation and are very proud of our annual Arbor Day program," said Mike Trigg, Superintendent of Parks at the Waukegan Park District.

Every year the Waukegan Park District celebrates Arbor Day with a tree planting ceremony in one of its parks. The Waukegan Park District also promotes Arbor Day in all the public and private elementary and middle schools in Waukegan through a distribution of a newsletter called The Arbor Times.

William P. White Jr.

Age 82, was an executive and engineer with the White Cap Company, and was instrumental in the development of the "White Cap" found on every brand of ketchup world-wide. He also was a founder and director of First Colonial Bank, which became part of Firststar Bank.

Mr. White was born in Ridgefield, Conn., raised in Glencoe and died at his Grayslake home on Friday, April 14, with his wife, Marilyn and other loved ones at his side.

He was a graduate of New Trier High School, the University of Notre Dame with a degree in Electrical Engineering, and received his Master of Business degree from the University of Chicago. Mr. White also attained Master Degrees in Engineering, Mathematics and Psychology. He started his business endeavors in 1939 with the White Cap Company, a family business that manufactured vacuum closures for the food industry. Bill, as he was known to his fellow employees and his many friends, helped develop the "Twist off" cap which we all use every day.

White Cap Company was acquired by Continental Can Company in 1956, and Mr. White remained with Continental until 1958. He then moved on to Appleton Electric Co. for several years, and then retired to pursue his entrepreneurial interests, philanthropic concerns, and his classic car "hobby." In addition to numerous other business interests, Mr. White was the owner of and a licensed real estate broker for White Realty from 1970 to 1979. Mr. White actively pursued his interest in collecting, repairing, and restoring vintage classic cars. Known for his meticulous attention to detail and his engineer's precision, he amassed numerous first place awards for his classic cars. With a preference toward Rolls Royce vehicles, he was the only two-time winner of the prestigious Rolls Royce Trophy for his 1912 Rolls Royce Silver Ghost and the 1937 Rolls Royce Phantom III Hooper Sedan de Ville, both vehicles are considered one of a kind. Mr. White was the first owner to score a perfect 100 points for his Rolls Royce Phantom III.

In addition to restoration of classic cars, he restored old cash registers, which were displayed along with his classic cars and other antiques in a Museum build on Gamewood Farm, his residence for over 30 years. Mr. White enjoyed showing his Museum and its contents to friends and car enthusiasts. In February of 1994, a fire destroyed the Museum and its most treasured occupant the 1912 Rolls Royce Silver Ghost. In addition to another one-of-a-kind classic car restored by Mr. White, a 1932 KB Lincoln which was used in the movie "The Untouchables."

Perhaps his most favorite endeavors pertained to his philanthropic accomplishments, for which he avoided any recognition. He was a trustee and on the Board of the W.P. and Hazel B. White Foundation, which was established by his late parents and devoted principally to educational and health-related programs for our youth. Mr. White was also on the Board of Condell Hospital in Libertyville, and was directly involved in its development. In 1990, Mr. White learned of the proposed demolition of the Holy Family Church at 1080 W. Roosevelt, Chicago, one of only five buildings to survive the Chicago fire of 1871. Recognizing not only the historical significance but also the exquisite beauty of what has been called "a European Cathedral in Chicago," he initiated efforts to have Holy Family Church declared a historical landmark and contributed personally and through the White Foundation to the restoration of this Chicago treasure.

In addition to his wife, Marilyn, Mr. White is survived by his sister, Alice Barr of Pittsburgh, Penn.; his brothers, Robert P. (Marie) and Roger B. (Francine) of Atlanta, Ga.; sisters and brothers-in-laws, Margaret (Ebb) Lilly, Kerrville, Tex., Nancy (Elliott) Ebright, Scottsdale, Ariz., and John McCourtney; his children and step-children, Pamela Ficarella of Philadelphia, Penn., Kathleen C. of Seattle, Wash., William P. III (Christine) of Naperville, Cynthia A. of Round Lake and Patricia M. Mears of Darien, Conn., M. Polly (Claude) Bagnall, A. Jolene Acker and James V. (Josephine) Davis; his grandchildren and step-grandchildren, William P. White IV, Colin B. White, Jay A., Gregg D., Stephen W. and Christopher E. Grambling, Teresa L., Michael S. and Richard J. Wolkins, Tami Strang, Nancy (Michael) Joerger, Kathy (John) Van derHarst, Nathan E. and Zachery C. Acker.

A Memorial Service for Mr. White was held at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Mundelein.

The family requests in lieu of flowers that donations be sent to the Alzheimer's Association, 4709 Golf Rd., Suite 1015, Skokie, IL 60076.

Elizabeth A. Holden

Age 93 of McHenry, passed away Thursday, April 13, 2000 at her home. She was born Dec. 18, 1906 in Pittsburgh, Penn., the daughter of the late, John and Sarah (Baillie) Best. She had lived in Dorseyville, Penn. and later Greenwood, before moving to McHenry in 1997. On July 22, 1929 she married Charles I. Holden in Pittsburgh, Penn. and he preceded her in death on Feb. 15, 1980.

Survivors include three children, Charles E.N. (Beryl) of Omaha, Neb., Sarah Holden of McHenry and William (Mary) also of McHenry. She was the grandmother of nine, great grandmother of 14 and great-great grandmother of one. Several nieces and nephews also survive. Besides her husband, she is preceded in death by three brothers, Edward, Nicholas and Charles Best.

Funeral Services were held at Spring Grove Funeral Chapel, Spring Grove with the Rev. Lisle J. Kauffman of Calvary Presbyterian Church in Round Lake officiating.

Interment was at Oakwood Memorial Gardens, Cheswick, Penn.

Doris Mae Brennan (nee Mirocko)

Age 68, passed away Sunday evening, April 9, 2000. She was born on June 20, 1931. She has been a resident of Lake Villa for 20 years, formerly from Vernon Hills. Doris was a retired nurse for Highland Park Hospital and (in her youth) worked at Condell Memorial Hospital in Libertyville as a physicians assistant.

She leaves her husband, John Philip Brennan, to whom she wed on May 5, 1979. Also surviving are four brothers and sisters, Clifford Mirocko of Antioch, David Mirocko of Wisconsin, Lillian (Mirocko) Hagi of Wisconsin Dells, Wis., Lorraine (Mirocko) Sutton of Lake Villa; five children, Judy (Harrett) MacCallum of Spring Grove, Steven Harrett of Loveland, Ohio, David Harrett of Campton, Ky., Donna (Harrett) May of Round Lake Beach, Connie (Harrett) Fox of Ingleside; grandchildren, Justin, Noah, Ryan, Kelly, Cheryl, Mathew, Amy, Christine, Joeleen, Sarah, and Natasha; great grandchildren, Cheryl, Leanne, Ariel, Tyler and Janessa.

Services and interment were held privately.

Arrangements were entrusted to Connor-McVay Cremation and Funeral care, Lake Villa.

In the matter of the Petition of SERGIO PEREZ and TAMMY PEREZ
TO ADOPT
KELSEY BUXTON
No. 00 AD 58

PETITION FOR ADOPTION

YOUR PETITIONERS, SERGIO PEREZ AND TAMMY PEREZ, respectfully allege:

1. That they are husband and wife, of lawful age and under no legal disability; that they reside in the Village of Lake Zurich, County of Lake and State of Illinois; and that they have resided in the State of Illinois for a period in excess of 2 years.
2. That they are of lawful age and under no legal disability. Your Petitioner, SERGIO PEREZ, is 30 years of age, having been born in Mexico on September 7, 1969 and your Petitioner, TAMMY PEREZ, is 31 years of age, having been born on May 10, 1968 in Sterling, Illinois.
3. That the Petitioners reside at 7 Pine Street, Lake Zurich, IL 60047, and have so resided for a period in excess of 2 years.
4. That the Petitioners are husband and wife, having been married to each other on July 23, 1997 in Charleston, Illinois.
5. That TAMMY PEREZ hereby warrants and represents that she is the natural mother of said minor child, KELSEY BUXTON.
6. That the Petitioner, TAMMY PEREZ, hereby warrants and represents that the natural father of said minor child, KELSEY BUXTON, is, in fact, DUANE J. RHODES.
7. That the said DUANE J. RHODES has had no contact with the minor child since four months of age.
8. That the natural father, DUANE J. RHODES should be deemed to have abandoned the minor child pursuant to the definition of said term as provided for in appropriate Illinois Statutes.
9. That the Petitioners are unaware as to the present physical and geographical whereabouts of the natural father, DUANE J. RHODES.
10. It is in the best interests of the minor child that the natural parental rights of DUANE J. RHODES be terminated.
11. It is additionally in the best interests of the minor child that SERGIO PEREZ be granted leave of Court to adopt KELSEY BUXTON a minor and to be legally deemed her father.

WHEREFORE, your Petitioners, SERGIO PEREZ and TAMMY PEREZ, pray that this Honorable Court enter a Decree of Adoption designating SERGIO PEREZ and TAMMY PEREZ as the lawful parents of KELSEY BUXTON, a minor and that the name of the said KELSEY BUXTON be changed to that of KELSEY PEREZ.

All eyes are on the bride

Most brides spend extra time applying makeup on their wedding day. Whether you are planning to do your own makeup or hire a professional makeup artist, any bride who wears contact lenses should take extra care with makeup selection and application, says the American Optometric Association.

Tearing and irritation, while a minor annoyance, could lead to more serious problems during or after the wedding.

When shopping for makeup, choose a water-based, hypoallergenic liquid foundation, instead of cream, to prevent leaving a film on your lenses. You should avoid lash-extending mascara, which has fibers that can irritate the eyes, and water-proof mascara, which cannot be removed easily with water and may stain soft contact lenses.

Follow these tips, and your eyes will be as lovely as you are on that special day. For more information about contact-lens selection and care, visit www.aoanet.org on the Internet and click on "Keeping Your Eyes Healthy."

CLC NOTES

Parents/teachers guide

"Learning Smart. IV," a booklet highlighting locations in Lake County that played a role in the Underground Railroad before and during the Civil War, is being offered free by the College of Lake County as part of CLC's observance of April as Community College month.

Designed as a resource guide for parents and teachers, the booklet was written by CLC sociology professor Dr. James Dorsey.

It is designed as a tool for parents, teachers and students to learn more about Lake County's history. "Learning Smart. IV is about people who lived in our own home towns," the booklet states. "It highlights the contributions of Lake County residents who risked legal prosecution to serve as 'stations' along the Underground Railroad, helping escaped slaves reach freedom during and before the Civil War."

To request a copy of the booklet, call the CLC public relations office at 543-2094.

FLOOD

Wright Woods. The firm's suggestion to install an earth berm on Forest Preserve property behind Braun's home has led to a political brouhaha that has resulted in Braun spending $26,000 in engineering costs, permit and application fees. Braun said he was directed by the planning and development committee to conduct the engineering studies before approval of the berm could be given.

Although Braun's berm proposal was initially approved last summer, Commissioner Martha Marks' suggestion that Braun donate a portion of his property for a public bike trail access created an upheaval in the upper scale River Oaks community. Since then, the exact recommendation for proper drainage of Wright Woods has turned into a brass ring that keeps getting yanked out of Braun's reach. Braun, along with several other commissioners and citizens feel that Marks is the keeper of that brass ring.

The planning committee's April 11 recommendation to approve a 3.5-foot berm was on the agenda for the April 14 finance committee meeting. With estimated costs for the berm initially below $10,000, the proposed berm project could have come to a conclusion with the finance committee's approval of the recommendation.

Several finance committee members were unaware of the recommendation, and noted that they had received nothing in their packets for the meeting.

According to Commissioner John Schullien, who is a member of the planning committee, recommendations are normally presented in resolution form if they are to be acted upon by the next tier of government.

Marks, who is chairman of the finance committee, told members that she was going to "exercise the chair's prerogative to make a statement" in regard to the flooding issue.

Following her version of the berm debate, Marks told committee members that the Forest Preserve "was not in the business of building structural engineering projects for one, two or three homes."

"We need a project to benefit the entire neighborhood," she argued, reiterating her belief that a more comprehensive study needs to be done by the Stormwater Management Commission (SMC).

Committee member Diana O'Kelly lifted her muddied shoes to show board members what Braun and other residents have to contend with.

"Martha has neglected to tell us that a 1959 map of the area shows water not running through Mr. Braun's property," said O'Kelly. "It's really slick what we did as a forest preserve. We filled in the creek and redirected the water to the Braun property. We caused this in the first place. The Forest Preserve needs to take care of their mistake!"

"If we fix this problem, what other thing that we caused do we have to fix?" argued Marks.

"We are the good guys," countered O'Kelly. "We should be held accountable for what we have caused."

Committee member Pam Newton agreed with Marks, and brought up the issue of the cost involved to build the berm.

With earlier estimates for the 3.5-foot berm under $10,000, Maintenance and Operations Director Brian Hall was told committee members that the estimated cost to build a 5.5-foot berm would be in the neighborhood of $350,000 to $450,000. He said the estimate was based on the original berm size that would withstand the 100-year flood.

"That's absolutely insane!" says Schullien. "Our guys originally said we can do this in-house. They made it simple and easy. It was a no brainer."

"One of the Forest Preserve's functions is to alleviate flooding," he angrily continued. Now, when a bureaucrat doesn't want to do something, they can inflate the price beyond belief. It's despicable. We screwed the guy, let's make it right!"

Other residents who attended the finance committee meeting voiced their disapproval with committee members.

"Let's get to some kind of consensus," stated Ann Howell. "I don't know that anybody is being honest anymore."

"There's got to be some way to reach some kind of a peaceful agreement," commented Bob Hollar.

"What did you need to do that is more important than solving this?" he asked Marks. "I thought the world of Martha Marks the public servant, now we have Martha Marks the politician!"

Needless to say, the issue has not been resolved. The finance committee agreed to direct staff to look over a new proposal initiated by River Oaks residents who are opposed to the berm without further study of the entire area north of Rte. 22 and south of Daniel Wright Woods. Members also agreed that further discussion on Forest Preserve policy in regard to such projects would be beneficial. Committee members hope to make a decision within 30 days.

"What clearly started as an attempt to remedy the wrong we've done has escalated in an attempt to determine who is going to be the winner," concluded Schullien. "Mr. Braun will be the ultimate loser if this is not resolved."

DAM

agency's second and third in its 15-year history.

"All the board members agreed Jim will do a great job. I wanted to pass the gavel to someone of high quality," Dam said.

Dam made a condition of his resignation that McKinley be named his successor.

His final project was a big one, to secure state funds which have not been in the budget for several years.

"The efforts of Sen. Dick Klemm, McKinley as chairman of the finance committee and Al Jourdan, who set up a meeting with the governor's budget office and Pate Phillip (Republican Senate leader) was a full-court press. Jourdan did a great job," Dam said.

Will Dam miss the FWA?

"I will miss the friendships I have made over the years. I won't miss all the meetings. I will be the FWA's biggest cheerleader," he said.

Dam recalled not-so-bright times for the agency when he became chairman in 1991.

"I wanted to save the agency from extinction. We now have a permanent base, a great staff, respect from the Army Corps of Engineers and the DNR. I have accomplished what I set out to do," Dam said.

Dam succeeded John Soffiotti and was first elected in 1993 and again in 1997. Dam, the former Fox Lake mayor who is a physician in Fox Lake, won praise of the professionalism and enthusiasm he brought to the FWA.

"He has done a splendid job, considering what was going on when he came. He brought the Agency to a legitimate role," McKinley, Dam's successor, said.

"I think he has had this (resigning) on his mind for the past year. I don't foresee any major changes, except to take on more roles such as herbicide regulation on the lakes, that the Army Corps used to be a part of," McKinley said.

McKinley said through Dam's leadership the FWA has achieved a great reputation with the boating public. "That is shown because when we had a substantial fee increase, we had very few complaints, McKinley, of Johnsburg, said.

"He (Dam) has been a great influence in advisory board meetings," Anne Basten, chairman of the FWA's citizen advisory board, said.

"He did a good job in hiring our first two directors, Karen Kaabes and Ingrid Enriquez," FWA advisory committee member Wayne Mueller said.

Mueller praised Dam and the FWA Board for listening to the advisory committee the last five years.

"He was a wonderful chairman. We hope to have a huge retirement party for him in May," Enriquez said.

Dam's direction brought better services for FWA's customers, Enriquez said. "Last year, when we received a complaint, we were out there within a day," she said.

The FWA is responsible for a 65-mile stretch of the Fox River and Chain O'Lakes waterways. Its mission is to improve and maintain the Fox River and Chain O'Lakes public waterways from the Wisconsin border to the Algonquin dam and also to improve recreational uses and control flooding.

Dam, at a Fox Lake village board meeting, gave an update of recent accomplishments.

"Due to the work of many good people, we believe we are on a positive track. We have 120 permits, including a 10-year permit from the U.S. Army Corps. We have an excellent field staff. We have the equipment," Dam said.

Dam praised the cooperation the FWA receives from Fox Lake and other towns. The FWA's offices are in Fox Lake, but the agency serves both Lake and McHenry counties.

McKinley is active in McHenry Area Chamber of Commerce and on the merit commission of the McHenry County Sheriff's Dept. He and his wife, Sharon, have two grown children.

"I have lived in Johnsburg for seven years, have been on the water since 1953. I love it. Soffiotti, our first chairman, was my neighbor. We would talk about the agency and I served on the advisory board," McKinley said.

ductible contributions from the private sector.

"This campaign provides the support that the 'Y' needs to take care of everybody," emphasized Hastings Lake YMCA Chairman William Schroeder. "The dollars that are contributed locally by folks who believe in the 'Y' go directly to the scholarship programs. There are no middlemen."

Hastings raised $75,000 through the campaign in 1999. With those funds, needy children and their families were able to participate in camping and swimming programs, before and after-school care, and family memberships.

With the addition of the Grayslake satellite center at Rtes. 45 and 120, Schroeder said the goal for 2000 is $97,000. He noted that Hastings plans to extend its "family" by duplicating the Grayslake satellite in other areas of the county. Hastings currently serves Antioch, Lake Villa, Lindenhurst, Grayslake, Gurnee and Fox Lake.

Hastings Lake YMCA is asking county residents to be a "heroes" to children in need by contributing to this year's Annual Giving Campaign. The YMCA's Christian-based programs can make a difference in a child's life by providing a fun, safe and healthy environment.

"Don't hesitate to send us the name of a neighborhood child who would like to participate in our programs but cannot because of financial difficulties," said Schroeder. "We do not discriminate—everyone is welcome."

MASTODON

Recently, a Zion resident found bone fragments of the prehistoric animal. Bones and teeth were found in Ingleside in the late 1950s. Van Zelst, Inc., a landscape company in Wadsworth, made national news in 1992 after discovering mastodon bones and tusks during excavation of a lake on the company's site.

According to Van Zelst, Inc., this type of mastodon was also found in southern Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin.

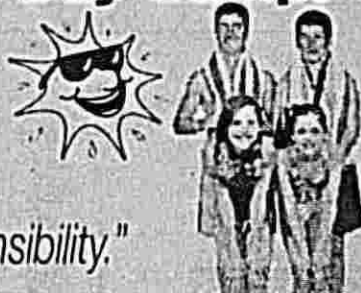

Hamilton-Smith invites county residents to "come out and see her" at the museum, located in the Lakewood Forest Preserve on Fairfield Rd. and Rte. 176 in Wauconda.

ATTENTION PET OWNERS
WE DO NOT KNOWINGLY ACCEPT ADS FOR ANIMALS IN OUR FREE GIVE AWAY COLUMN.
 If you must give up your pet, please consider these facts.
 *Free animal ads suggest that there is something wrong with the animal, or that it has no value.
 *Some people who respond to these free animal ads are not reputable and are more concerned about making a profit than the animal.
 *Charging a fee to a potential pet owner confirms the responsibility of pet ownership for an entire lifetime of that pet. For more information, please contact the Humane Society.

The Balanced Resume (Functional or Pretty)
 By Scott T. Fleischmann, Integrity Business Solutions
 Every resume needs to maintain a balance between beauty and function. When you prepare a resume you want it to look appealing to the eye so recruiters will want to look at it. Yet you want to highlight your skills and experience so that recruiters invite you in for an interview. Here are a few simple tips that will help you accomplish that balance:
Do's for Beauty
 • Leave as much "white" space as possible. I recommend 1.5 spaces between lines and 1.25-inch margins.
 • Use an off-white or cream colored high quality paper to help your resume stand out in the stack of other resumes the recruiter has received.
 • Limit the resume to one or two pages. Too much information will overwhelm the recruiter.
 • Use compatible fonts, for example the family of Arial fonts. Make the headings bold for contrast to the body, which should not be bold.
Do's for Function
 • Describe in detail the responsibilities on your last job or two.
 • Give a brief description of your education unless you just graduated. Then give detailed information.
 • Modify the resume to be specific to the job for which you're applying.
 • Underline words which relate to the specific job.
Don'ts
 • Use paper that is a bright color or lightweight paper. Also do not use card stock.
 • Attach a picture to the resume.
 • Describe all past jobs in detail unless you have had few jobs.
 • Include personal information about race, gender, religion, and age.
 • Put a border around the resume.
 I have seen all of these items on resumes. As you can see, the balance between beauty and function is a fine line. So how will you know when you have achieved that balance? Ask for advice. Do you have a friend who is a recruiter or a friend who is a hiring manager? Ask them to read your resume for function and beauty. They will know what they are looking for.

How To Survive
The Job Search
By Nancy Sakol

Dear Search,
Q: On my resume, I show my marital status and birthdate. I was told to take this off of my resume by two different places that I applied for jobs with recently. It is a mystery to me because I went to the library and took out a book on how to write a resume, and followed the format they had shown, inserting my information. What's up? S.F. -Lake Villa

A: The resume book you took out of the library was most likely outdated. Marital status, birthdates, height, weight...these statistics do not belong on your resume. They can be used as a means of discrimination and are no longer acceptable. Many people no longer list their hobbies or outside interests for that reason as well. Check out a recently published resume book if you have further questions as to what you should eliminate, or give me a call. In the mean time, when writing your resume, stick to the facts and remember... less is more!

Dear Search,
Q: I have been employed as a manufacturer's sales representative in men's apparel for more than 10 years. My compensation over the last 7 years has been on a commission basis and has proven to be very beneficial to me. Recent economic set back through the industry has caused our company to close, causing me to seek other employment. I am thinking of changing careers, however, I have always worked in outside sales, so I am not used to being in an internal structured environment, and I'm sure that will take some getting used to. I was hoping you could shed some light on where a die-hard sales person should start. Thanks. E.W.-Grayslake

A: If you believe in your sales capabilities, and it has proven to be successful for you after all these years, why change now? There are manufacturers out there needing the knowledge you hold. A true sales professional, as you know, can sell any product or service he or she believes in. Before you jump ship, see what is out there. Good luck.

CLINICAL MANAGER

This nursing leadership role with system-wide responsibilities is focused on managing our Nursing Staffing Office and Divisional Staffing Support Team, as well as the Health Unit Coordinator role. A BSN and 2+ years of management experience are preferred.

REGISTERED NURSES NURSING/RELIEF

Opportunities are now available for RNs who have the desire to expand their skills to multiple departments and specialties. Our Patient Care Services Division has created flexible staffing options for nurses to increase their skills and job satisfaction while working in various settings. In addition, RNs with leadership career goals can now have the chance to build these skills by occasionally supporting the nursing departments in a supervisory role at the St. Luke's - Racine campus.

Our convenient locations, between Milwaukee and Chicago, attract the best and offer quiet lakefront living with many recreational, cultural and educational advantages. In addition, we provide excellent benefits that include tuition reimbursement, child care voucher plan and a fitness facility. To apply, please submit a resume to: All Saints Healthcare System Inc., 3801 Spring Street, Racine, WI 53405; Fax: 262-636-4133; Phone: 262-636-4294; Email: wfrangesch@allsaintshealthcare.org. We are an equal opportunity employer and maintain a safe work environment through post-offer drug testing.

READERS GUIDE TO Lakeland Newspapers

Answers to the most frequently asked questions about how the newspaper operates, how to reach us about a story, how to write a letter to the editor, and how to access our web site.

Q. What information can I submit to be published?

A. Lakeland Newspapers encourages readers to submit stories and story ideas through NEWS RELEASES for the following: activities of service organizations, news of awards and achievements, programs open to the public, entertainment events, special church services and religious programs open to the public, and activities and services of interest to retirees.

Q. How should I prepare a news release?

A. Information of all types of news items should be submitted as a written news release to the appropriate department. Most editors cannot take information over the phone because of time constraints. News releases insure accuracy and save time.

The two most important points to remember are (1) to include all basic information in the first paragraph and (2) to list the name, and day and evening phone numbers of someone who may be contacted for additional information or clarification. News releases should be typed, double-spaced, on one side of an 8 1/2" by 11" sheet of paper and presented with the most important facts listed first. Be sure to double-check the spelling of all names, addresses and other facts. Avoid the need to publish phone numbers if possible.

Q. How can I get an announcement published?

A. Lakeland Newspapers provides special forms for weddings, engagements and anniversaries. You may also arrange to have one of these forms mailed to your home by calling Lakeland Publishers at (847) 223-8161. Birth announcement forms are available in all local hospitals.

Q. How do I submit a news release or announcement?

A. News releases and completed engagement, wedding, anniversary and birth forms may be left with the receptionist at the front desk or mailed to the appropriate department at: Lakeland Newspapers, 30 S. Whitney St., Grayslake, IL 60030. News releases also may be submitted by e-mail at edit@lnd.com.

Q. How do I get a letter to the editor in Lakeland Newspapers?

A. Lakeland Newspapers welcomes letters to the editor. Please send letters to "Letters to the Editor," Lakeland Newspapers, 30 S. Whitney St., Grayslake, IL 60030. You may e-mail your "Letter to the Editor" to edit@lnd.com.

All letters published must be typewritten, double-spaced and limited to 250 words. Letters must be signed and must include the writer's address and telephone number in case it is necessary to contact the author for information or clarification. "Name Withheld" letters will not be published. Priority is given to letters offering fresh perspectives and to letters that conform to length and format expectations. Lakeland Newspapers also does not routinely publish "thank you" letters from one organization or individual to another, but may carry such a message if the author is unable to contact the benefactor in any other way. Letters are subject to editing.

Q. How can I get multiple copies of Lakeland Newspapers for classroom use?

A. Call circulation for delivery at 245-7500. Members of the editorial department will give tours of Lakeland Newspapers' facility to students. Members of Lakeland Newspapers will visit classrooms on request. Call for available times.

facility to students. Members of Lakeland Newspapers will visit classrooms on request. Call for available times.

Q. How can I advertise my business or organization?

A. If you have a sale or event coming up or you just want your prospective customers to know how, where, why and what you do, Lakeland display ads are right for you! Get your message out by calling (847) 223-8161 and ask for the display advertising department. An experienced Account Executive for your area will help you to effectively reach your targeted market.

Q. How can I buy back issues?

A. Back issues are available if less than one year old. Mail orders must be paid in advance. For ordering procedure and cost, please call (847) 223-8161. Microfiche and microfilm of papers older than one year are available at most area public libraries.

Q. How can I subscribe to Lakeland Newspapers?

A. Lakeland Newspapers offers home delivery and mail subscriptions. For rates, call (847) 245-7500.

HOW TO PLACE A CLASSIFIED AD IN ILLINOIS' FASTEST GROWING NEWSPAPER-

If you're selling a house, a car or want to place a help wanted ad, a classified ad can get your message out. Just call (847) 223-8161 and ask for the classified department. Our experienced sales staff will help you to create an effective ad.

Q. How can I access Lakeland Newspapers on my computer?

A. If you are already connected to the Internet and you wish to view Lakeland Newspapers on the World Wide Web, direct your browser to www.lpnews.com. To send e-mail to Lakeland Newspapers, the general address is edit@lpnews.com.

Q. What can I find on Lakeland Newspapers' web site?

A. In addition to finding the week's top local news stories and classified ads, you can visit special online sections. You can also place a classified ad, send a letter to the editor, e-mail Lakeland staff members, subscribe to the print edition of the paper or request permission to republish a story.
